John Bagnano treated Olympia Macri very badly. She shot and killed him. The jury acquits here. Mrs. Whitney, kind-hearted woman, widow of a distinguished judge, provides a home for the girl and her baby. The undertaker provided permanent residence for John Bagnano.

Murder is a hideous thing, but some things are worse, and the Macri jury will have public approval.

The president says the nation is "more in danger of being retarded by mistaken government activity than it is from lack of legislation."

Generally speaking, that's so, especially with some modern kinds of government. Nevertheless, while selfish private initiative is useful, intelligent government initiative COULD be a thousand times more useful.

Private initiative could not have built the Panama canal or established the national postoffice, which sends a letter from Florida to Alaska for two cents. It could not—without legislation and government help—have established railroads across the continent.

Government "fussing" is not desirable, especially when it is done by order of Wall street's "big butter and egg men," but it is wholly desirable when it is based on real intelligence and on independence of the plutocracy, so powerful an agency in the United States just now.

Uncle Sam, it seems, is to be "coaxed" into the world court because some of our statesmen are afraid of what dear old ladies may think of we stay out. As he goes in, sidewise, looking behind him, Uncle Sam will say: "If you start anything, I'll run." That is what you might call a dignified entrance into the European muddle.

George Washington, with fewer than 4,000,000 Americans behind him, thought that he and the United States could stand on their own feet without help from Europe.

Today's brand of statesmen, backed by 115,000,000 Americans and about all the money there is in the world, think this country CAN'T take care of itself. The trouble is with them, not with the country.

America's biggest city, New York, does things on a big scale. So do dozens of other American cities, from Seattle to Miami and from San Diego to Portland, Me.

Our European friends read with amazement that a young American, Arthur S. Williams, boss of the electric light industry, sells in New York city more electricity than is used by 12 European countries with a combined population of 109,000,000.

The 12 countries that use less electricity than New York city alone are: Greece, Denmark, Latvia, Jugoslavia,

FIEND ATTACKS PRETTY CO-ED AS SHE GOES TO UNIVERSITY

Girl, in Hysterical Condition, Taken to Her Home

VICTIM CHOKED

Assailant Believed Man Who Murdered Two Other Women.

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—Possibility that Toledo's "club murderer," who killed two women and injured nine others since last May, may be again at work was seen by Toledo police today, when Miss Louise E. Washburn, 18, freshman co-ed at Toledo university, was attacked by a mysterious man at the entrance to the university grounds this morning while on her way to school.

Miss Washburn, in a highly hysterical condition, was taken to her home.

Girl Screamed for Help.

The girl, who had been driven to the university by a friend, had just left the auto, when a man, said to have been about five feet tall, and weighing 150 pounds, came from behind and grabbed her throat. As Miss Washburn struggled she fell to the ground, and when she arose, her assailant again began choking her. Leaving her coat in his hands, the girl eluded him once more still closely pursued.

A third time he grabbed her throat, but not before she had screamed loudly.

Apparently fearing pursuit her assailant said:

"Pick up your books and go to school.'

Flees, Then Faints.

The girl fled and fainted as she reached the steps of the university.

Turkey Ready to Fight Britain For Oil Fields of Mosul

Mustapha Kemal, Convinced League Will Award Disputed Territory to Irak, is Preparing for War.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Turkey is prepared to make war against Great Britain for possession of the oil fields of Mosul, according to disquieting reports reaching here today.

Convinced that the league of nations council will award Mosul to Irak, which is under British mandate, Mustapha Kemal is reported to be preparing to use force of arms to assert Turkish claims to Mosul.

Quantities of arms and ammunition are known to have been shipped into Turkey within the last few weeks. Rigid inspections are being made of Turkish troops now on border duty, and plans are being made for a direct railroad route to the border for the prompt movement of troops and supplies.

The Turkish army now consists of nearly half a million men and is said to be capable of expansion to twice that number upon the outbreak of hostilities.

BODIES OF 50 MEN ARE TAKEN FROM WRECKED ALABAMA MINE

Three Other Miners are Known to be Dead.

GAS EXPLOSION

Presence of "Black Damp" Handicaps Volunteers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 11—The death toll in the Overton mine explosion mounted to 53 today following checkups by officers of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, owners of the mine.

Eight white men and forty-five negroes are known to be dead, officials said.

The bodies of six white men and 44 negroes have been recovered. Two other white miners and at least one negro victim are known to be dead in the bottom of the shaft.

Rescue Work Difficult.

The presence of "black damp" in the lower levels of the pit after the explosion made rescue work slow and difficult. Two rescue workers were overcome during the night, when they went into the lower levels searching for bodies. They declared no one could live more than a few minutes in the lower part of the mine, where the 10 missing men are.

Rescue workers, exhausted by their sustained efforts through the night, were continuing their search for bodies today.

Bodies of the dead were removed to an improvised morgue near the mouth of the pit, where their relatives gathered to identify them, as rapidly as they were brought from the smoke-blackened mouth of the underground shambles where they died.

Seventeen Are Injured.

The little mining camp, swept with intense excitement and hysteria when the blast came, had regained its stolid composure today. Women and children, relatives of the dead miners, gathered quietly to pick their dead from among the long line of bodies in the rude shelter which served as a morgue, weeping quietly, while the surviving men of the community had joined the rescue efforts, helping to bring the bodies to the surface, or assisting in the care of the injured.

Five of the injured were seriously enough hurt to necessitate removal to a hospital. A dozen others were only slightly bruised, burned or gassed as the terrific blast swept the pit.

The explosion ranks as one of the major disasters in the coal mining industry of the nation, according to rescue workers from the United States bureau of mines who were rushed to the mouth of the pit from Birmingham at the first report of the blast.

THOMPSON BUILDING, MARKET STREET, SOUGHT FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Suggest Use of Second and Third Floors of Structure, Which Will Require Little Remodeling, as Headquarters for Jurist and Co-workers as Well as Council Meeting Place.

ASK $75 MONTHLY RENTAL, BUT PLAN MEANS OUTLAY OF ONLY $10

Solons' Proposal Calls for Transfer of Water Works Office From Fourth Street to City Hall, While Auditor's Quarters Will be Moved to Councilmanic Chamber.

Second and third floors of the George C. Thompson building on the northwest corner of Fourth and Market streets will be the home of East Liverpool's municipal court to be established January 1, if legislation to be considered at the councilmanic meeting tonight is enacted.

Solicitor Harry Brokaw, upon instructions from members of the municipal legislative body, has prepared an ordinance providing for the leasing of the two floors of the building for a term of two years at a rental of $75 per month or $800 per year.

According to council's plans, offices of the court clerk, judge and perhaps another city official will be established on the second floor while the third floor will be used as a court room. The new quarters will require little remodeling, it is said.

Council members, Solicitor Brokaw, Service Director Ellis and a committee from the bar association recently inspected the proposed location. Director Ellis was instructed to seek an option on a lease from Mr. Thompson, pending legislative action, but up until today it had not been obtained. It is understood that the building can be rented at the price quoted the solons by the bar association committee, which was headed by Attorney Walter B. Hill.

Arrangement of Offices.

The two floors of the building at the present time are occupied by The Milligan Hardware and Supply company which is preparing to move to the new Diamond alley location. On the second floor is a suite of five rooms, one of which will be used by the judge as his private office, a second by the clerk of the court and another for the clerk's records. The rear room would be available, councilmen suggests, for the city solicitor or city engineer, or may be used as a jury room.

The proposed court room on the third floor will have a seating capacity of 200 or more persons. The judge's bench will be erected in the east end of the room. On either side of the bench will be ample space for the court stenographer or clerk and jury. A railing will divide this part of the room from the space reserved for spectators. In the west end of the room is an ante room which may be used for jury purposes. Both floors are provided with lavatories.

Council has suggested that the rental may be saved by transferring the wa-

TRUCK LICENSE TAGS ARRIVE

Only 100 Pleasure Car Plates Issued During Week.

Deputy Automobile Commissioner James S. Hilbert today began the distribution of the 1926 series of license plates for motor trucks.

The tags for pleasure cars have been available for about a week, but the first shipment of plates for trucks did not arrive here until yesterday. The shipment consisted of 700 pairs of plates, beginning with 97-201 and ending with 97-900.

Only about 100 automobile owners of the 6,000 motor car owners residing in East Liverpool and the immediate vicinity have applied for the new licenses, Hilbert declared today. Unless motorists obtain their licenses they will not be permitted to drive after January 1, as state officials have announced that no time extension will be granted. The applicant must fur-

"TRUANT HEIRESS" IS DISILLUSIONED GIRL AS SHE RETURNS TO HER HOME

"Peggy" Wood, 19-year-old Art Student, Missing Since Nov. 7, Found in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — Margaret Wood, "truant heiress," was a disillusioned girl as she prepared to return to her home in Philadelphia today.

The 19-year-old art student had visions of a "career" when she fled from her home on November 7, telling nobody where she was going. She left via a back window.

For weeks the authorities have been searching for "Peggy," as her friends called her.

The other day Margaret made the mistake of writing a friend in Philadelphia to send her money. She wrote the letter on the stationery of Hotel Richmond, New York city. This provided a fruitful clew and the first thing Margaret knew a representative of the missing persons bureau came up to her in the hotel lobby while she was reading and addressed her by her first name.

"Peggy," it developed had not cut out a career for herself during her absence from home.

In fact, she spent a great deal of her time in hotels, reading and writing letters, receiving no callers and whiling away time. She first came to the Hotel Martinique, New York, then went to Lewiston, Me., for some unexplained reason, where she stayed

U. S. HAS CORNER OF GOLD SUPPLY AS WELL AS WORLD MONEY STOCKS

America, However, Gave Way During Year to Many Foreign Nations in Currency.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Staggering figures, reflecting the financial power of the United States, were contained in the annual report of Comptroller of the Currency, J. W. McIntosh made public today.

The combined banking power of all banks in the country is $60,469,400,000, an increase of $4,022,900,000 since June, 1924.

Money stocks of the principal countries of the world were given as $9,669,359,000 of which the United States holds $8,221,200,000.

The United States has a corner of the gold supply with a stock valued at $4,546,407,000. Great Britain has $760,874,000, France, $710,000,000; Japan, $585,138,000; Spain, $489,164,000, and Argentine, $453,175,000.

This country, however, gave way to many foreign nations in circulation of paper currency. Hungary took first place in a walk with a total of 4,513,858,560,000 kronb, with France second with 40,603,965,000 francs. United States has $5,320,946,000 in paper.

Bank clearings for the year ending September 30 reached the colossal total of $505,299,000,000 more than $62,299,000,000 in excess of the preceding year.

National banks had $19,105,000,000 in loans and investments, $1,500,000,000 greater than a year before, while the national bank resources were $24,570,000,000, an increase of over a billion dollars in 12 months.

'Is Zat So?' New York Comedy Success, At Ceramic Tonight

Richard Taber, Co-author, Will Appear in Cast of Chicago Company Which is Brought Here.

The offering at the Ceramic theatre tonight will be James Gleason and Richard Taber's phenomenally successful American comedy, "Is Zat So?" which scored a triumph at the Chanin theatre in New York, where it has been playing to capacity audiences since last January. The comedy duplicated its New York success in Chicago, with a special company of which Richard Taber, one of the authors, is a member, and which recently closed a six months' engagement. The complete Chicago organization will be brought by Earle Boothe in association with the Messrs. Shubert to the stage of the Ceramic theatre.

"Is Zat So?" is credited with having an original theme, and it is said the authors wrote a play that is peppery, with a new angle in romance and plenty of wholesome, clean dashing comedy and enough perplexing situations to keep things constantly on the move.

Chicken Feed Mine Found.

With the rapidly rising cost of crushed oyster shells for chicken feed the discovery of a mine of argonite or calcium carbonate has been found so important that the mine is at once going to be developed. The mine is in Clarkstene, Cache county, Utah and the installation of $2,000 worth of machinery is thought worth while, because of the potentiality of the mine for chicken feed alone.

Cross Word Puzzle Adds to Income of Tokyo Postoffice

TOKYO.—Tokyo postal officials are smiling these days and the cross-word puzzle is responsible. Just at a time when times are pretty hard in Japan the postoffice will receive approximately $150,000 added revenue in 1925 because of Japanese enthusiasm for cross-worders.

An investigation has revealed that between August 20 and October 31, more than 500,000 letters dealing with cross-word puzzles were handled by the Tokyo Central posteffice.

Besides the cross-word puzzles appearing in English language newspapers in Tokyo and elsewhere, scores of vernacular newspapers throughout the country are publishing these puzzles in the Japanese language regularly.

Northwest Turns to Fur Ranching as Paying Investment

ST PAUL.—Fur ranching is a new industry in the Northwest.

Stirred by reports of success of silver fox farms and with the supply of wild fur-bearing animals dwindling, trappers and others with an eye to business are planning for ranches of varying nature. The state provides they must operate under regulations with regard to equipment and care of animals.

Such ordinary dependable fur bearers as the racoon and muskrat are almost extinct in the Northwest, J. F. McGill, State Game and Fish Commissioner, declares. The season is now closed to everything except the skunk and fisher.

Hindu Barbers Versatile.

In India the barbers are strolling journeymen of many trades. Besides cutting hair the Hindu barber spreads news of births, attends funerals and shaves the heads of the living and the dead. He also bores the girls' ears and noses for earrings and often attends weddings as "best man." They do not have shops and the barber pole means nothing in their existence.

BACK-TO-FARM MOVEMENT ON IN NORTHWEST

Good Crops in 1924 and 1925 Encourage Tillers.

LEAVE CANADA

Price of Acreage is Climbing in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A back-to-the-farm movement of no small proportions is getting under way in Minnesota and other northwest states. Although the cities in this section continue to grow much faster than rural communities, and there is no general rush to the plow, a retrogressive movement which was in evidence in agriculture during the after-the-war depression has changed to a positive forward movement.

Good crops in 1924 and 1925 throughout the northwest, coupled with much higher prices, has so bettered agrarian conditions that many are willing to try the land again.

"Inquiries on farm lands in Minnesota at the present time exceed any total for any period in the last five years," declares Oscar Smith, commissioner of immigration. "Hundreds of people engaged in farming moved to the cities when wages were exceptionally high in larger centers of population. These people are now returning to the farms since conditions again are approaching normal."

Some Quit Canada.

A feature of the movement, Smith has discovered, is that many inquiries come from farmers who emigrated to Canada to try wheat farming on a large scale, and now are returning to this country to do mixed farming. Dairying is to be the basis of farming for nearly all new settlers, he says.

"Minnesota farmers this year did not specialize in any one crop, but rather centered efforts on a diversity of crops," said J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture. "This was a good business move and indicates that the diversified farming movement has gained many adherents. The process of educating the farmer to employ better business methods was in operation throughout the year and will be continued in the future."

Commissioner of Immigration Joseph M. Devine, of North Dakota, also reports many inquiries for farm lands and predicts a considerable immigration to that state in the spring, while the same conditions exist in South Dakota. In the latter state, a current sale of 80 acres for $250 an acre was the first at that high price in several years.

Along with the increase in dairying, there is a marked growth of the sheep raising business on northwestern farms.

Children in all parts of the world enjoy the $43,000 worth of toys made in homes of Czechoslovak every month.

Women In Congress

Women were much in evidence at the opening of the present congress. The house galleries were packed with them. They swarmed about the corridors. Which was natural enough, for their sex made notable gains. There were three women to be sworn in as members.

Two of them, Mrs. Rogers, of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Kahn, of California, may be regarded as representatives of their deceased husbands, whom they have succeeded. The third, Mrs. Norton, of New Jersey, attained her office normally. Before women really become a power in congress, there must be many of them there in their own right. That is sure to come.

The women in congress so far can hardly be said to have made much impress on that body, but give them time. Individually they have probably averaged as well as the men. Eventually, with experience and fuller knowledge, they may do better than the men, because women seem more conscientious and determined in their public service.

College Militarism

An issue has arisen between the war department and a large group of educators and public men, regarding military training in schools and colleges. The policy of encouraging such training in the educational institutions, which was favored or at least tolerated during and immediately after the war, is now seriously questioned.

The war department continues to stand "squarely in favor of military training for the greatest possible number of students, considering available personnel, funds and equipment.

The opposition has come out with a declaration which not only urges pacifism but urges the claims of education itself. "Colleges and universities," it says, "are peculiarly inappropriate fields for military training and for the intrusive presence of a military bureaucracy."

This language is, perhaps, needlessly offensive. There isn't much "military bureaucracy" in America, nor much chance of it. Nevertheless there is much to be said for the point of view indicated.

College boys have enough difficulty keeping their minds on their academic studies as matters stand, with the distractfons of athletics and social life. Military work, in institutions that are not specifically conducted as military schools, may add unnecessarily to those distractions.

Reformed Billboards

"Bigger, better billboards" might be a contradiction in terms. But at least outdoor advertising is to be better. Assurance is given by men who have power to make their word good. They are the billboard men themselves, assembled in national convention.

All the leading concerns engaged in the signboard business have agreed to do their best to make signboards less objectionable. Pictures and reading matter are to be censored by the industry itself, morally and artistically, and billboards are not to be forced upon purely residential neighborhoods or placed where they will endanger traffic or mar scenic beauty.

The industry has been influenced, clearly enough, by public criticism. It has come to a point where reform is good policy. Self-reform may forestall more drastic reform from without.

The public welcomes such evidence of good intent, and will cheerfully give the billboard people every chance to make their kind of advertising less objectionable. But the public itself remains judge of such matters, and public authority must have the last word.

Sympathy Toward The Past

A Tennessee newspaper, interested in the stream of tourists continually passing through its town, makes a plea to local citizens to tone up the famous historical shrines and landmarks and make them interesting as well as authentic.

Among the things worth preserving and marking is an old log cabin with loop-holes through which the inhabitants used to watch for and shoot at attacking Indians. There is a home of Andrew Jackson which is now unmarked and falling into disrepair. There is the former home of a beloved local poet. And there are other spots in which a community with even a faint touch of New England's interest in history would take pride and which would undoubtedly be of interest to tourists.

Americans, on the whole, believing in the present and future rather than the past, often fail to distinguish between what is old and useless and what is old and valuable, discarding both. There isn't much sense in retaining and caring for old buildings if they are nuisances or if they menace true progress and health in some way. On the other hand, America has grown so fast and her customs and modes of living have changed so fast that people today have little opportunity of picturing for themselves the struggles their forebears had to go through with in making their contribution to the nation's development. And yet this sympathy toward the past is worth preserving. Pride in local history and its landmarks is a fine things if it truly teaches and inspires noble effort.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Thoughts while strolling: A Frenchman wearing gray silk gloves. Whatever became of derbies with air holes? William A. Brady. Who distrusts fashionably dressed men and men with white eyebrows. Wonder if a caliope was ever in perfect tune?

The nickel cigar returns. Also the 15 cent shave. What the country now needs is a dollar play. The warehouse on 10th avenue where stage gymnasts rehearse. And a pair of discarded pink tights in an ash can. Prohibition aftermath: a barrel of squeezed orange rinds.

Walk-up apartments fitted with birdseye maple and glass baskets of fake fruit on the parlor table. A dingy drug-store with wax angels in the window. A huge meat market of patterned brick. Vendors peddling dream books and sex weeklies.

Professional cards fastened to doors with thumb tacks. Curtain cleaners. Banjo teachers. Hemstitchers and home dressmakers. Masseurs. Fat women and hatchet thin men. Cops are pleasantly good natured. Before almost every door a baby carriage.

Taxis waiting while drivers eat at home. Mothers trundling croupy babies to the gas-house. A man in a wheel chair shows a card: "I fell from a balloon." Pavement book stalls. From Alger to Dickens. For 15 cents. The gloom of twilight in every store.

The Fox film studios. A group of waiting extras. Two one-legged men, an Indian and a cowboy. Gold teeth. Brown derbies. A butter-milk shop: "Drink ten glasses and pay nothing." A Ceylon curry parlor and Hamburger steak stands.

Bleak, drooping figures in a Mills hotel lobby. Silver haired old men who sit motionless for hours. Philosopheres of disenchantment. A parrot store run by a Chinese. The eerie moan of a squeaky fiddle. Business of galloping back to the glitter.

It happened in the elegantly fitted office of a millionaire. The visitor accidentally upset a bottle of ink which splashed on a costly rug. He stood in a haze of bewildering embarrassment. The magnate smiled and said it was nothing and added contents of another inkwell to what had gone before. "Why did you do that?" he was asked later. He said the visitor's embarrassment was so overwhelming he was touched. And added with a sly twinkle: "Anyway the rug was ruined beyond hope."

Southerners visiting New York will especially deplore the closing of Miss Mary's on upper Central Park West. It was a boarding house that furnished the charm and hospitality of the old South and was about the last in the city to symbolize the fading canotuaries with their horse hide sofa, red plush parlor suite and buxom middle aged mistress. For many years the cheerful hearth of Miss Mary's has been the meeting place for Southerners. Miss Mary came from Georgia and passed on several years ago. A sister kept the house open, serving the fried chicken, waffles, biscuit and gravy that made the place famous Betty, the cook, Virginia, the head waitress, and Mary, the maid, returned to Dixie when the house closed. It flourished for more than sixteen years. There was a dangling brass bell at the door. Patrons were made acquainted and sat in the parlor afterward awhile to chat after dinner. Sometimes there was a song or a piano piece. Miss Mary wore rustling black silk to the last.

A darkey from Georgia followed his employer from the South to his office in Wall Street. Everything was done for the darkey's comfort to wean him from home. At the end of five days he announced he was going home. Pressed for a reason, he said: "I wants to git back wha' the sun shines on both sides of the street at the same time.'

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Famous Waterfall Gone.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11.—There is, perhaps, in the mind of every person in the United States that has attended grade school, a memory of the beating rhythm that drums through "Hiawatha." It is a meter borrowed from the ancient Norse, used by the unknown minstrels that fashioned "Beowulf," and taken by many Teutonic bards as a vehicle for their songs. It occurs and recurs in Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" and there are touches of it in Goethe.

It thrums its way into the mind, and, as it resembles the dum-dum of a tom-tom, its beats impress themselves with ease upon the listener. Likewise, it is peculiarly adaptable to the American's conception of Indian music, and, as it is used in "Hiawatha," it is particularly effective.

It usually fell to the lot of the children in the grade school rooms to listen to it in that interim between lessons and the close of the school day. And it usually was read in the fall, when the autumn sun sent long shadows through the tall windows and the barren trees looked forbidding and mysterious in the fading light.

Lessons over, the warm room seemed strangely comfortable and the juvenile bodies seemed to relax into dreamy quietude, inspired by the lengthening shadows and the far away aspect of outdoors. Then the teacher would reach to the line of books atop the desk, take from it a worn volume, open it and begin in a sort of droning, flowing tone, "By the shores of Gitche Gumee, By the shining Big-Sea Water," and immediately childish imaginations would begin to expand, and drift to the wigwam of Nokomis or the forest behind it.

Bur perhaps the most vivid memory of all memories of that epic is the one that encompasses "Minnehaha Laughing Water, handsomest of all the women." How he wooed her, how he won her, and brought her to the lodge of old Nokomis, is one of the brightest of all Hiawatha's deeds.

And it will probably cause the mental lips of those who remember that romance to quiver, when it is known tthat the Falls of Minnehaha, the Laughing Water of Minnesota and the old Dacotahs, are no more. The water falls no more like musical laughter; the falls have run dry.

Not a drop trickles over that historic ledge today. It ceased to flow for the first time in May of this year. It revived later, for a brief time, when early summer rains, stored in reservoirs, sent a thin veil of water falling over the brink, but it was a strange contrast to the lilting, musical cascade of other days. It merely murmured, while before it had spoken and laughed aloud. And the drought of summer finally brought this feeble effort to an end and the falls were silenced.

A Glacial Formation.

Minnehaha Falls are a glacial formation. They originally were part of the Mississippi river, according to eminent geologists, but under the wear of time the falls retreated, and the branch of them that remained in the river was called the Falls of St. Anthony. The other branch receded up Minnehaha creek, from which the falls were named.

Years ago the falls were the objective when all-day picnics were talked of. The people for miles around would drive to the glen, carrying baskets of good things to be eaten while the falls furnished the music with the meal. There was then a broad ledge running back underneath the cataract, and no picnic was a success until the party had gone behind it.

New Building Will be Opened on Monday, January 4.

Chester's new high school building will be ready for occupancy when school is resumed following the annual Christmas vacation January 4, according to an announcement made today following a meeting of the board of education held last evening in the Central school building.

The new structure, which is two stories, has 12 class rooms with no auditorium or gymnasium. Work was started in 1924 by the Finley Bros. company who held the contract. Plans were drawn up by Architect J. C. Cunningham of East Liverpool.

Dates for the Christmas vacation period were fixed by the board from the close of school on Wednesday, Dec. 23, to Jan. 4.

Besides high school students pupils from one room each of the fifth and sixth grades will be housed in the new building.

Increase Your Weight In Thirty Days

Ask Mathews' Medicine Store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

Claire Windsor Scores in "Denial" At the American

"The Denial," which opened at the American theatre yesterday, brings a story of unusualness, a background of great interest, and an atmosphere that is entirely new to the screen.

There is a prologue, an epilogue and a main story. The two former are laid in the present day period, while the latter is placed in that time just around the corner usually called "yesterday," but actually the year 1897. Two characters go through both periods, as the connecting links between the past and the present.

Roosevelt as Colonel.

Two enormous thrills are brought out in the appearance of a man impersonating Roosevelt. The actor looks so much like the Colonel that he creates a vivid impression of the leader as he really looked during the Spanish-American war. The other surprise is Claire Windsor as a middle-aged woman.

In the prologue we see Miss Windsor as a gray haired matron, the mother of a full-grown girl. In the main part of the story she is the heroine of 18. But it is the older role in which Miss Windsor definitely establishes herself as a great emotional actress. With every semblence of her real beauty torn from her, she has nothing to depend upon but real ability, and she attains the heights with great ease.

Proud Papas Put to Test.

Members of the American Legion at Enid, Okla., who are mostly bachelors have tired of having members arriving late at meetings ask indulgence of the other members because they had to put the baby to bed. The post had invited all "proud papas" in the habit of arriving late, to bring their offspring with them and demonstrate their skill as nursemaids, in order to get a meeting started on time. The idea is to make it a contest to ascertain who is the best trained father.

BANDITS SEIZE LIQUOR CACHE

Flash Fake Badges, Make $50,000 Haul in Warehouse.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 11.—Two bandits, disguised as officers, flashed fake badges on watchmen and made off with 600 cases of confiscated liquor from the United States customs warehouse here today.

The liquor was valued at more than $50,000.

After gaining entrance to the warehouse, T. F. Hubbard, watchman in charge of the liquor, was bound and gagged, while the bandits leisurely loaded their loot.

Stepfather of Movie Star Faces Gallows For Double Murder

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11. — S. C. Stone, 60-year-old watchman, stepfather of Jack Hoxie, motion picture star, today faced death on the gallows following return by a jury of a verdict finding him guilty of the murder of May. Martin, 12, and her sister, Nina, 8.

The two sisters disappeared from their home here August 23, 1924. And in February of this year their bodies were discovered in a shallow grave in the nearby hills.

A tiny rouge box, said to have belonged to one of the children, was found in Stone's room, the prosecution charged, after Stone was alleged to have kept the girls prisoner for several days.

two weeks, then went to Boston where she stayed at Healy's hotel, and finally returned to New York.

Her father, Edwin D. Wood, well-to-do lumber merchant, came here in person to get his daughter. He is a tall man with iron gray hair. He confronted his daughter in the office of the missing persons bureau and later left with her, presumably to take her home.

Margaret is tall, and inclined to be plump. Her father couldn't understand why she left home—she had everything she wanted. He had arranged to give her an automobile as a surprise gift for Christmas. He hadn't liked some of her boy friends who had visited her at their home.

Margaret managed to pay all her various hotel bills. She had sold some Liberty bonds before she left home. She told detectives she was glad she had the experience but she was disillusioned.

She is the third daughter of wealthy parents to disappear recently in New York, turning up after mysterious and unexplained absences. The first was Jacqueline Hobbs of Park avenue, and the second Mary McTiernan, daughter of a prominent New York doctor.

Fiend Attacks Co-ed

The "club murderer' has not been active for two weeks. While this morning's attack bore no resemblance to others, authorities are confident that it is the same man.

Police were taken off beats and special details and a city wide search for the man is in progress.

Ax Killer in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11.—Facing the probability of a degenerate ax killer running at large in Columbus today, police were baffled by conflicting stories and circumstances connected with an attack last night on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Berry which left the woman in a serious condition and, physicians said, probably will result in the death of Berry.

Remove Excise Tax On Fire Apparatus After Court Rules

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The treasury today removed the excise tax on fire apparatus.

Refunds will be given manufacturers who have paid the taxes since 1921.

A federal court in New York recently held the tax was illegal.

High fashion decrees that ladies from now on must get stockings that match their complexions.

There will be no trouble about that. Modern fashion makes it easy for a lady to change her complexion to match her stockings if she can't find exactly the silk stockings she wants.

We are able at making laws in this country—not so good obeying laws when the laws do not suit us.

In Indiana a merchant can be sent to jail for displaying or selling pocket flasks or cocktail shakers. That violates the "bone dry" law. In congress one Democrat, one Republican want the "Star Spangled Banner" made the official national anthem. Congressman Fairchild would send you to jail for five years for making any "criticism" of that respectable song with its words expressing our hatred of the British and its tune borrowed from a drinking song.

We used to laugh at German laws concerning lese majeste. The Germans would imprison you for insulting the kaiser. We would imprison you for criticizing a song.

The "Golden Goose," Red Grange, laying eggs of solid gold, is apparently to be killed as rapidly as possible. The manager who does his "thinking" evidently thinks it a good idea to get money "while the getting is good." Red Grange, made to play five days in the week, will soon be a worn-out man and stop drawing a big "gate."

However, he will probably get his million or as much as a "thinking" manager thinks he ought to have. All professional athletics include more or less "hippodroming" and "Red" might as well be worn out of the game as tricked out of it.

LaFollette to be Admitted to G. O. P. Standing in Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., will be admitted to full Republican standing in the senate, it was learned today, as a result of a compromise reached by administration leaders.

This peaceful solution of the new senate's first insurgent row, it was said, was agreed upon after Senator William M. Butler, R., of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and spokesman for President Coolidge, withdrew his opposition to La Follette. Butler was reported as willing to admit La Follette to the Republican ranks for the present but insisting upon his punishment if he bolts the party on any strictly partisan issues.

Truck License

nish a recorded bill of sale before license plates will be issued him.

Truck licenses as well as those for pleasure cars are being sold at reduced rates. The fee for trucks is based entirely upon weight and not upon engine horsepower and load capacity as was the plan last year.

The fee for the first 2,500 pounds which a truck weighs is 70 cents per hundred; for trucks over 2,500 pounds and up to 6,000 pounds, the rate is 90 cents per 100 pounds; for 6,000 pounds and up to 9,000 pounds, the rate is $1 per 100, while a rate of $1.15 is charged per 100 pounds over 9,000 pounds. The license fee for pleasure cars is $4, $6 and $10, one half of that charged last year, but the quarterly reduction plan is eliminated by the terms of the new bill.

Commissioner Hilbert also has a supply of plates for machines which are used jointly for pleasure and commercial purposes. Last year, these licenses were available only at the state license bureau in Columbus.

Commissioner Hilbert announced today that his office would be open tonight and tomorrow night and also Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week from 7 to 9 o'clock for the distribution of license plates.

City May Lease

Paying $65 Monthly.

The council chamber on the second floor of the city building will be abandoned, sessions of the legislators being held in the court room. The solons have tentatively agreed to move the offices of the city auditor and the city treasury to the old council room and place the water works department in the rooms now used by the auditor and treasurer.

By this arrangement a $40 rental which is now being paid by the city for the water works office on Fourth street and an additional $25 janitor salary would be saved. The city hall janitor would be employed to take care of both the city building and the court headquarters. This would means a saving of $65, making the new quarters cost the city but $10 per month more than what is now being paid out in rentals.

Mining Congress Endorses Stand of Anthracite Owners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The stand of the anthracite operators in their controversy with the miners was endorsed today in a resolution adopted by the American mining congress.

In supporting President Coolidge's recommendation for settling industrial disputes by arbitration, the resolution said:

"In order to terminate the present intolerable situation in the anthracite region, the operators have offered to submit all matters in controversy, without reservation, to arbitration."

Letter Shatters Two Homes; Ohioan Guilty of Bigamy

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11.—Thomas P. Seits' two homes were shattered and two women were heart broken today, all because a letter written by wife No. 1 fell into the hands of wife No. 2. Seits, when arraigned in police court this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Seits, a traveling salesman, maintained a home in Cincinnati for his first wife, whom he married at Bucyrus, O., in 1890. The second, whom he married in Michigan in 1915, had cozy quarters in Lancaster.

Seits' arrest was upon a warrant signed by the second Mrs. Seits.

hind the falls and negotiated the ledge to gaze out at a fantastic world that presented itself through the prismatic brilliance of the laughing water.

The glen was filled with the mist of the falls, and the sunlight filtering through it caused an ever-present rainbow to add to the beauty of the glade. Although it was surpassed in size and volume by many cataracts, there were few that had the meauty or the serenity, or the picturesque surroundings that marked Minnehaha.

It is peculiar that, although he impressed their beauty upon the nation through the thudding of matchless meter, Longfellow never saw the falls. He was, in fact, never near Minnesota, and he knew little about the surrounding country. There is an interesting explanation of this.

During the eighties, while there yet was a great deal of mystery surrounding the conception of "Hiawatha," an itinerant daguerreotype photographer wrote to a St. Paul newspaper. He explained how the poet obtained inspiration for the poem.

In his letter he told how he had once worked out of a little town in Illionis, taking views of the surrounding country. In 1851 his travels took him up to Minnesota, where he saw the falls and was impressed with their matchless beauty. In the following year—during the summer—he returned with a companion and spent some time at the site, where they took several views of the falls and the surrounding scenes. These they took back with them to Galena, which was the Illinois town in which they headquartered.

The photographer, Alex. Hesler, developed his pictures and gave several to a friend, George Sumner—brother of Charles Cumner—among them the picture of the falls, which Sumner greatly admired.

A Complimentary Copy.

In January, 1856, Hesler received a copy of "Hiawatha," with his name and the compliments of the author written on the fly left. He was puzzled, as he had never met Longfellow, and when Sumner, shortly afterward called at his studio, he brought up the subject.

The solution of the mystery was that Sumner, who was a neighbor of Longfellow's had returned to his home and showed him the view of the falls and the other pictures. Struck with the beauty of Minnenhaha, the poet selected it and retired to the woods, where the thought and poem of "Hiawatha" were conceived. Upon the completion of his work, he sent the autographed copy to Hesler, without explainting the facts in the case.

But now the falls have ceased to laugh and Minnehaha creek is a dry ravine. Just above them, now strangely desolate and lonely, stands the bronze statute of Hiawatha and Minnehaha. This was erected in commemoration of the epic that gave the spot its fame. The hero of the legend is shown with the timid Minnehaha in his arms, with her arms entwined about his neck. He is about to carry her across the creek to keep the swirling water from wetting her delicate moccasins. Her hair is falling about her shoulders, draped over his right arm, much as the falls draped their watery vail over the ledge, and she is gazing at the creek with assurance, inspired by his protection.

While the creek flowed and the falls laughed, this figure added immensely to the picturesqueness of the spot, but now before it is a dry creek bed filled with the forest's debris. The waters have ceased to surge in front of it and it stands pathetically alone in a maze of saplings and underbrush. And local wags have suggested that Minnehaha might as well release her arms from the neck of her lover and walk across by herself.

There is talk in Minneapolis of restoring the falls by the means of artesian wells, but it has not been considered seriously. But whether or not they are restored, the droning voice of the teacher will probably keep them alive in the minds of the children when the quiet afternoon of the day has descended on the school room and the sun's long shadows slither through the tall windows to stimulate juvenile imagination.

U. S. Marine Corps Doctor Kills Self; Wife Divorced Him

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11.—Samuel W. McEwan, aged 38, lieutenant-doctor attached to the local United States marine corps recruiting station, killed himself, police learned, in the Metropole hotel. Several letters left by the dead man indicate that McEwan committed the deed because his wife had divorced him, some months ago.

Asquith's Son May Enter Movies; Pays Visit to Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Anthony Asquith, son of the former British premier, may become a motion picture actor.

Young Asquith, making his first visit to Los Angeles, admitted today he was keenly interested in filmland and may attempt to become an actor or enter the production end of the screen business.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The industrial and specialty stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today. Most of the active stocks in these groups started the day at higher price levels, while occasional advances were recorded in the rails and oils. Pools specialties were brought to the front with heavy scale, buying at slightly higher prices. But price changes on the whole were narrow and offerings at the higher values were so liberal that the peak opening prices were shaded a point or more before the end of the first hour.

Forward movements in United States Distributing, General Asphalt, International Combustion Engineering, Foundation Company, Federal Light and Traction company, Bush Terminal and other of the active newcomers, were the principal features of the first hour of trading. The mercantile stocks were active and strong, as also were the public utility stocks. Montana Power sold up nearly two points; Brooklyn Union Gas, ex-dividend and ex-rights, sold at 89¾, up 2½ points from the previous close, at 96, in response to announcement of the contemplated construction of a new record-beating gas plant.

AKRON, Dec. 11.—Earl Jones, 20, of Cuyahoga Falls, is under arrest today on a charge of stealing $4,260 from the C. H. Yeager company here, where he was employed as a clerk. He is said to have confessed to obtaining the money by sending credit bills to the cashier's desk reporting goods returned and then keeping the money himself. The names used on the slips were fictitious.

He had $11 left of his alleged plunderings when arrested. He had spent it on the rent of automobiles. He said he spent $60 in one week for cars.

the German system and is equipped with field guns and Mauser rifles. The forces are said to be well trained and disciplined and eager for action, after months of peace-time maneuvers. One of the army's weak points is the lack of heavy artillery, but military experts are of the opinion that war in Mosul would develop along lines requiring chiefly infantry action.

Turkey has no large air force, but a German airplane factory has recently been established at Eski-Chehir and is reported to be turning out scouting and bombing machines for the Turkish war department.

All of the war activity in Turkey is not limited to the army, as a well-planned campaign of propaganda has been outlined to create national sentiment in favor of an external war to establish Turkey's right to Mosul.

COL. MITCHELL SCORES POINT

Evidence Shows Foreign Aircraft Concern Near Panama Canal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Documentary evidence, substantiating Col. William Mitchell's contention that foreign aircraft concerns have secured a foothold in Central America "within striking distance' of the Panama Canal, was produced at the court-martial of the flying colonel today.

War department records were introduced to show that a German-Austro concern is now engaged in commercial flying in Central America.

Col. Mitchell has charged that war department negligence and indifference enabled foreign interests to get a foothold near the canal.

"Red" Grange Will Play in Tomorrow's Game at Detroit

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—"Red" Grange will play in the game tomorrow at Detroit. He may not be in the line-up when the game starts, but he will take up his regular backfield position later."

After conferring with the Illinois flash, whose injured arm was well on the way to recovery after he arose from his first good night's sleep since his professional football team undertook its enervating schedule over a week ago, "Dutch" Sternaman, owner and manager of the Chicago Bears, gave this assurance today.

"'Red' is young and I don't want to send him in a game when it would endanger his health,' Sternaman said shortly before boarding a Pennsylvania train for Detroit. "But the boy's arm is recovering rapidly. There is no question but that he will play in tomorrow's game, if only for a few minutes.'

Texas House Chief Silent on Plans in "Ma" Ferguson Fight

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the Texas house, declined today to say whether he would call a special session of the Texas legislature for impeachment proceedings against Governor Miriam A. (Ma.) Ferguson.

Governor Ferguson has refused to issue a call for a special session.

Satterwhite declared he would announce his decision when he returns to Texas. He is here attending a tax conference.

Hint Poison Plot In Sudden Death Of Police Officer

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—A post-mortem investigation will be held late today by order of Coroner Charles Henzler, into the mysterious death of Patrolman William Simmill, who died of a perplexing illness in a Toledo hospital this morning.

So far, physicians have been unable to diagnose the patrolman's case.

He had failed to report for duty at 11 o'clock last night and another patrolman was sent to his home to learn the cause. He found the house dark and climbed through a window. He found Simmil unconscious on the floor and frothing at the mouth.

Simmill was hurried to a hospital but he died without regaining consciousness.

Preliminary examinations shows marks on Simmill's throat and Coroner Henzler is of the opinion that he was poisoned or strangled to death.

Phone, Auto, Power, Radio and Planes Business Assets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 11.—The population of the United States increases between one and two per cent a year, while business activities increase three or four per cent a year, as a result of which the standards of living are constantly improving, according to W. S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in an address here today before the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

Gifford pointed out that 90 per cent of the business of manufacturing, mining, of utilities, railroads and banks today is done under corporation form, largely the result of the furnishing of modern business equipment, such as telephones, automobiles, electric light, radio, airplanes, etc.

Missing College Girl Alive; Held Prisoner, Belief

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Dec. 11.—Miss Alice M. Corbett, 19, of Utica, N. Y., missing Smith college junior, is alive and will be found within a few hours, state detective Joseph Daly said today.

Daly and private detectives, who have been searching for the girl in West Springfield, believe that she is being held prisoner. Close watch is being kept on a Springfield lodging house, which, investigators learned, Miss Corbett entered the day of her disappearance Nov. 13.

GUNMAN SLAIN BY DETECTIVES

Shot in Duel With Railroad Officers in Akron.

AKRON, O., Dec. 11.—An unidentified gunman was riddled with bullets and killed today by B. and O. detectives, after the dead man and a companion assaulted and engaged in a duel with R. A. Dickerson, also a railroad officer.

Dickerson was struck on the head when he called out two men hiding in a box car. As he fell he drew his gun and started shooting and the strangers turning as they ran, returned the fire.

Dickerson called Detectives Piper, Hale and McCutcheon of the railway service, and all started the man hunt. They encountered the desperadoes emerging from a restaurant and the pistol battle commenced. One gunman was shot twhrough the heart after being wounded in many places. The other man escaped, though it is believed he was wounded.

Gilbert to Return To U. S. to Report On Dawes Plan

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparation, announced today that he is returning to the United States to make a detailed report on the Dawes plan to the United States government, and also to confer with vice-president Dawes.

"The Dawes plan has become the Bible of the German business world," Gilbert said, and he is highly gratified over the manner in which it is operating.

The plan announced yesterday by Secretary Mellon for solving the problem of returning German property, seized during the war, will substantially facilitate the functioning of the Dawes plan, Gilbert said.

They enjoyed piano and victrola music, and dancing, and later a coverdish dinner. Christmas decorations were used throughout the rooms. CLECKNER BOY IS RECOVERING

Ernest Cleckner, 14, son of a widowed mother, and badly burned in an explosion of gasoline several months ago, is back home again after a long stay in the East Liverpool City hospital, with an even chance, according to friends, of recovering.

Young Cleckner, son of Mrs. Esther Cleckner, of Commerce street, was severely burned over practically his entire body. He is now able to get out into the air and walk again and although he may have to undergo another operation, it is possible that he will get well.

As a result of a campaign put on by the Wellsville lodge of Eagles, funds were obtained with which to defray, partially at least, the boy's hospital and medical expenses. A small sum remaining has ben placed on deposit for the lad in a local bank.

Today the Eagles' lodge issued public thanks for the support given them in the campaign.

In Argentina there is a national finger-printing law, and as a result the 10,000,000 or more inhabitants are all recorded by this system. It is this regulation which makes Argentina the one country in the world, it is said, where one may not lose his or her identity.

Grange's Quarter-Million Dollar Grid Campaign Is Halted

Red Rover Is Checked By Badly Injured Arm

With Muscles in Forearm Torn and Twisted, Star Leaves Game With Pittsburgh All-Stars in First Quarter; Bears Lose, 24 to 0.

By Ford Frick.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—The fighting spirit of Red Grange finally succumbed to the wounded pleadings of tired, battered flesh here yesterday afternoon, and today, for the first time since he turned "Pro," injuries forced him to abandon a portion of the campaign that was to net him a quarter of a million dollars in gate receipts.

His left arm, battered from constant pounding, received its final torturing wrench during the game with the Pittsburgh All-Stars and Dr. Gustaf Berg, physician for the Pittsburgh baseball club, immediately voted Grange out of the picture as far as the immediate contests on the schedule of the Chicago Bears were concerned.

"All Shot for Awhile."

This means that Grange will not be able to play in Detroit and probably be unable to appear in Chicago, either. His arm is badly bruised and a ruptured blood vessel is causing hemorrhages.

"Well, I guess I'm all shot for a while," Grange remarked as he was helped into his clothes after leaving the field. And that was all. The Bears were defeated, 24 to 0.

Crowds Jeer Grange.

The most famous figure in football was led from the field amid the jeers of a heartless crowd that failed to appreciate the agonies which Grange was suffering or the fighting spirit of the man who had played for three successive days on nerve alone.

The arm, injured originally in the New York game on Sunday and never given an opportunity to heal, was reinjured at the very end of the first quarter yesterday when Grange attempted to block out a tackler for Johnny Mohardt, who had intercepted a Pittsburgh pass. As Grange got his man, another Pitt player hit the red head and he fell heavily—landing with his full weight on the injured and aching arm.

Shouldn't Have Played.

For a few moments he writhed in agony and then, game to the core, arose to his feet and attempted a few more plays. But the gamest spirit can't continue forever—and Grange had to leave.

And the crowd booed. That was the unkindest cut of all.

As a matter of fact, Grange should never have played in that game at all. The week of strenuous travel and play, coupled with complete exhaustion from the attentions of curious multitudes who hounded his footsteps and denied him every opportunity for peace and quiet, left him tired and worn. Mental exhaustion was added to the agonies of physical stress and strain.

A French inventor and maker of a partly formed tie wire for line conductors plans to offer it in America.

POWERS TO CLASH WITH MOTOR FIVE

The Power basketball team will tangle with the Lisbon Dodge Motors on Monday night on the Odd Fellows' court.

The Powers have won six straight games this season and have yet to meet a reverse.

The Lisbon quint will boast a number of well known ex-high performers and former collegians.

The Powers will open the season for the Miller Brothers team at Columbiana on Monday, Dec. 21, and the Millers will play a return game here later. Teams in Canton, Youngstown, Wheeling and the Pittsburgh district are also on the Power schedule.

Lisbon ex-high girls and a local sextet will play a preliminary to the game with the Dodge Motors Monday.

26 Elis Get Letters

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 11.—Twenty-six members of the 1925 Yale football team have been awarded letters. Thirty-six Freshmen and 32 Sophomores receives numerals for their year's play.

Gershe-Shea Matched

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Benny Gershe, the slugging Jewish feather, will help to feature the next major fight on Dec. 18, at public hall. The other half of the scrap will be furnished by Eddie Shea.

DOESN'T FAVOR BIG TEN PLAN

STEUBENVILLE, Dec. 11.—C. Q. Cartledge, Steubenville, high school coach, does not favor the proposed formation of a "Big Ten" conference of Ohio high schools for athletic competition.

Although Steubenville high has not lost a game in four years Coach Cartledge does not believe a high school can "hold its own year after year," and that therefore a conference plan might not be feasible.

"If a high school conference is to be permanently successful it should be made of schools that are practically the same size," Cartledge asserts.

BUCKEYE JUNIORS WANT CAGE GAMES

No Snap For Hawkeyes

Iowa's 1926 conference football schedule is a strong one. Michigan and Northwestern, two of the most powerful teams of 1925, will be met at home, while Illinois, Ohio State and Wisconsin will entertain the Hawkeyes on their own fields.

Plan Southern Jaunt

BOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 11.—The University of Indiana's baseball team will make a southern training trip during the spring vacation. Games have already been carded with Vanderbilt, Oglethorpe and the University of Tennessee.

LaBarba Enroute East

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Fidel LaBarba, champion flyweight, has left for New York where he will meet Joe Lazarus on Dec. 23, at Rickard's garden. He will meet Clever Seicio, Filipino, on Jan. 20, back in Los Angeles.

Critchfield Captain

WOOSTER, Dec. 11.—Henry "Hank" Critchfield, center of the Wooster college football team for the last two seasons has ben elected captain of the Wooster grid team for 1926. He is the son of Judge Lyman Critchfield, of Wooster, and played four years at center for Wooster high before entering Wooster college.

STARS PICKED BY LEETONIAN

R. E. Whinnery Selects All-County Grid Teams.

R. E. Whinnery, principal of North Side high school, Leetonia, selects All-County first, second and third high school football teams, placing four East Liverpool players, three Leetonians, three Salem stars, and two Lisbon performers on the first team.

Whinnery says: "There will no doubt be objections to placing three Leetonia men on the first team, since Leetonia lost its game with Salem. As every person is aware, however, a good team meets reverses, which, it seems, it is unable to overcome in a game.

Leetonia School Head's Selections

Ginther, L.	L.G.	Sheen, S.
Larkins, E. L.	C.	Fisher, S.
Older, S.	R.G.	Clifford, L.
Cosgrove, S.	R.E.	Shenks, E. P.
Cornelli, L.	Q.	Flynn, E. P.
Coffee, S.	L.H.	Reible, E. L.
P. English, E.L.	R.H.	Pignatore, W.

Third team—E. English, E. L.; Hanes, E. L.; Cook, E. P.; Clark, E. P.; Crook, Lis.; Miller, S.; Jenkins, S.; Nicolette, Lis.; Campbell, W.; Dolan, E. P.; Stephens, E. P.

"The football chart of the Salem-Leetonia game shows that Leetonia made nine downs to Salem's five. Furthermore, Leetonia gained nearly twice as much yardage as Salem, but lacked punch at the proper time.

"In selection of ends, Perry and Cosgrove have been chosen because both men were fine defensive ends, in addition to having ability to retrieve forward passes and both have fine analytical power.

"Older and Beltempo were selected as the two leading tackles. Both are exceptionally strong. In defensive ability they were towers of their respective teams.

"Ginther and Banks are named at guards. They never failed to produce openings in the line when a few yards were needed by their team. These men were what one would call knifing guards, breaking through the line of scrimmage in time to stop the opposing backfield. Such men are rare and are of utmost value to a coach.

Larkins was selected as center since he was a man to be depended upon when making passes under difficult situations. This fact alone places him ahead of Fisher, of Salem, who may have had the edge on defense, but who was uncertain when passing the ball under extreme stress.

"Cornelli, of Lisbon, was an ideal football general, being very good to pick weak places in the opposing line. In addition, he was a triple threat man, having no one in the county as a near competitor.

English and Coffee were selected as the halves, the former being an ideal type of plunging half, and in addition the possessor of an ability to use the forward pass effectively. Coffee was picked only for his ability as a speeder. He was in no way an open field runner, as he lacked change of pace, which is essential for a broken field runner. On defense Coffee is a very poor man but this fault can be overlooked when considering his offensive ability.

"R. Price, although a Freshman, had no equal in backing up the line of scrimmage. He could be depended upon to stop most any play through the forwards, in addition to covering the ends when needed. He was a man who could always be depended upon to gain from one to two yards in case of necessity. His line plunges for the year averaged better than two and one-half yards per down, a fact which speaks for itself.

ATHENS PASSERS SHOWING FORM

ATHENS, O., Dec. 11.—Basketball practice is being held regularly for the Ohio University squad in preparation for the game on December 12 with Ohio State. The team played its first home contest against Bliss college recently and showed prospects of developing into one of the best outfits ever supported by the local school.

"Charley" Wright, the Ohio captain and crack forward, is teamed with Bayless, a sophomore. Muir, last year's center, has taken that position again and King, a senior, and Shirley, a sophomore, are playing the guards.

The two new men, Bayless and Shirley, were stars on last year's freshman five. Bayless played guard last year but has been converted into a forward and is showing up well.

20,000 Fans to See Berlenbach-Delaney

Battle for Light Heavyweight Title Will Officially Inaugurate Tex Rickard's New Madison Square Garden; Berlenbach Favorite.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—It will be left hand against right, champion gainst challenger, slugger against slugging boxer, and a quarter of a million dollar gate against the probability that one of the greatest fights of recent years will transpire when Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney meet tonight for the world's light heavyweight title. More than 20,000 of the populace will view the proceedings, which will officially inaugurate the manly art of legalized assault at Tex Rickard's new Madison Square Garden.

More people and more money than ever graced an indoor fight in America will be present, the former in upholstered seats and the latter in the box office. Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan, Jess Willard and Frank Moran and Benney Leonard and Richie Mitchell played to less money than will Berlenbach and Delaney tonight and, perhaps, deservedly so.

There was no title at stake on this occasion. In fact, tonight will witness Delaney's premiere in championship circles, the Bridgeport entry losing several title shots through illness.

Only recently did he recover from a serious attack of blood poisoning and this has prompted the boys to make Berlenbach a favorite at odds of 7 to 5.

However, all bets are being made on the basis of a knockout before the end of the scheduled 15 rounds.

Delaney is the better boxer, by many a last, long mile, and also the cleaner hitter, but is far from punch-proof. He once was stopped by Augie Ratner, and Augie can hit with all the venom of a dust cloth.

In brief, the thing should be very brief, as it were.

Only One Passed Ball

According to American league averages recently published, Catcher "Muddy" Ruel, of Washington, had only one passed ball last season, and played in 126 games, ranking next to Cochrane, of the Atheletics, in number of contests.

The last link, the laying of the concrete floor in the Gauley bridge, was completed Wednesday. One or two other open places were finished on Tuesday.

It will be three weeks or more before the concrete will set in the floor of Gauley bridge, it was said at the state road commission today. The entire trail is expected to be open for travel by January 1.

YULE TREES ON SIDEWALKS

Decorated Spruce Will be Placed in Front of Stores.

Clarence E. West today began erecting Christmas trees in the downtown business district.

West has orders for more than 150 trees which are to adorn the sidewalks of the business district during the holiday season. The trees, for the most part are being erected by using the flag pole socks in the curbstone.

Many merchants have arranged ot decorate their trees with Christmas trimmings, while others will used electric light sets.

West expects to complete his work of installing the trees this week. The trees will stand until after the first of the year. The plan is sponsored by the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

A large Community Christmas tree is to be erected in the Diamond by West, co-operating with East Liverpool Post. No. 4, American Legion.

"Specks" Now Match Frocks.

Parisan women have adopted American hornrimmed glasses, but they have made them a part of their general attire, by adopting rims made from colored celluloid to match their various dresses. A vogue for the "specks" has set in so that many women own several pairs of the glasses, each with a different colored rim. The glass used by the women who do not need spectacles, is ordinary window glass. Some dealers are selling as high as 100 pairs of the "specks" a day.

"Gadzooks" Indian Oath.

A. Hyatt Verill, a collector for the Museum of American Indians, has discovered that "Gadzooks" supposedly an oath of the good old Elizabethen days in England, is used commonly by the Panama Indians. The reason is that the oath was carried to the tribe by the English expedition known as Bartholomew Sharp's bucanneers, in 1660. This expedition left also a number of other English words that have been appropriated and corrupted by the Panama tribes which came into contact with the newcomers at the time.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

WARNING GIVEN ON LAND DEALS

Better Business Bureau Refers to Florida Investments

International Lloyds, a Chicago real estate organization, which is said to have issued insurance policies on Florida real estate, known as the "Glendale Estates," has no connection with the world-known insurance agency of Lloyds, of London, the National Better Business Bureau says in a circular received by the Chamber of Commerce, warning against Florida real estate investments.

According to the circular, the International Investment company of Miami, Florida, recently offered lots for sale, which guaranteed the purchaser a minimum profit of 50 per cent within five years. The advertisement stated that International Lloyds had written policies on each of the 5,129 acres in the allotment and that the investment was a sure money maker.

An investigation by the Better Business Bureau disclosed International Lloyds to be located on a second floor tenant at 219 North Michigan avenue, Chicago and that it had no connection whatever with the London company.

The Cook county court at Chicago has granted an order restraining International Lloyds from issuing any forms of insurance except those provided by their license which prohibits real estate insurance. Less than a month ago a receiver was appointed for the company, which is now declared bankrupt.

STRENGTH-SAVING

Nowadays nearly everyone is impressed with the health-building and strength-saving merit of

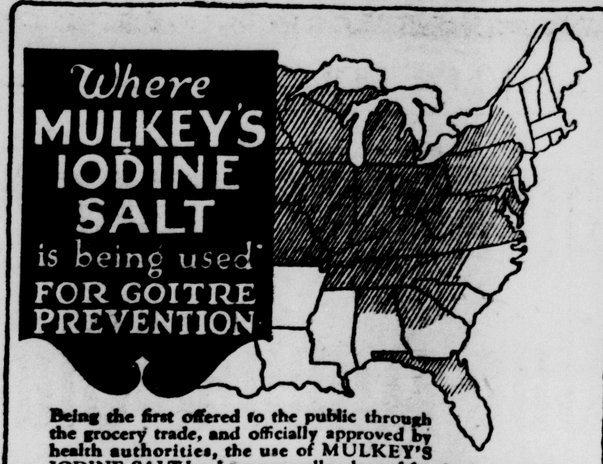
of invigorating cod-liver oil. Millions of bottles are sold every year. A very little used regularly daily builds health and helps keep the body in strength.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 25-21



Being the first offered to the public through the grocery trade, and officially approved by health authorities, the use of MULKEY'S IODINE SALT has been generally adopted for the Prevention of Goiter in sections of the country where this malady is prevalent among school children. Note shaded portions on above map.

Be sure to specify the name MULKEY'S when you ask your grocer for Iodine Salt. You should have the original, the genuine, MULKEY'S.

It's free-running Salt for table use and cooking. Sold in two lb. cartons with pouring spout.

New Castle Potter, Arrested Here, is Given Jail Term

Edward Schleffler, New Castle potter, who was arrested here about two weeks ago, at the request of Lawrence county authorities, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail upon a charge of grand larceny, Mayor Charles Brown was notified today.

Scheffler, who was formely employed at the Shenango pottery, is alleged to have taken a pay check for $65, belonging to a fellow employe, and cashed it. He was charged with a liquor violation when picked here, but this charge was not pressed when he agreed to return to Pennsylvania.

English Mint Finest.

Although the United States mint is up-to-date in machinery and well equipped otherwise, it is said not to rank with the British mint on Tower Hill, London, for fine workmanship. Many coins for other countries are made there because of its fine workmanship. It turns out copper coins at a great speed and as many as seven million silver coins, requiring greater skill, are turned out in a week. The designs from this mint are said to stand out more clearly than those from any other mint in the world.

But—the average farm hen lays seventy-two eggs a year. Fed Tuxedo the year 'round she will lay around 150 eggs. Many lay 175 to 200 eggs. With eggs selling at 3 cents each average yearly, the hen has to lay only one extra egg a month to pay the extra feed cost. The remaining sixty-six eggs are clear profit.

$4,407 GAS TAX IS PAID CITY

Second Check Sent to Auditor W. M. McGraw.

A second installment of $4,407 from the state gasoline tax receipts has been received by City Auditor William M. McGraw. This is the settlement for the three-month period ending Nov. 31.

This money is to be used in street maintenance and repair just as the auto license fund is, but it is to be kept separate from the license collections. City council must enact legislation transferring money from the gasoline tax fund to the street repair fund when the money is needed for street repairs or improvements.

County Auditor C. E. Hamilton has made his final settlement with and village officials of money collected through the sale of license plates. Licenses for the remainder of the present year are issued only through the head offices at Columbus and not by the deputy commissioners.

The final settlement of $291.18 was distributed as follows: East Liverpool, $120; Salem, $56; Wellsville, $56; East Palestinee, $19.18; Columbiana, $12; Lisbon, $8; Washingtonville, $8; Leetonia, $4; New Waterford, $4, and Salineville, 4.

Mobilizes "Army" For Extras in Film, "Winds of Chance"

There is no shortage of people willing to become part of movie "mobs" either in Hollywood or in New York or other big cities in which motion picture companies operate. But when a company goes on location to an out of the way location the obtaining of character extras becomes much the same problem as the mobilization of an army in an emergency.

When Frank Lloyd was filming scenes for "Winds of Chance" which comes to the American theatre Monday, in the high Sierras 700 character extras were required. The nearest town could supply no more than 200 men and women, hence it became necessary to send to Sacramento, Cal., which at the time had a large number of unemployed miners, lumberjacks and river men. More than 500 men were sent from Sacramento to the location on a special train of fourteen Pullmans and four diners, leaving Sacramento at midnight and arriving at location next morning and made up before the sun reached a point that would make shadows of pedestrians and buildings run contrary to the natural tendency of the time of day to be reproduced in accordance with the story's demands.

Healthiest Girl "Roughs It," Bans Fags and Rouge

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — The healthiest girl of the 1,000 attending Barnard college is dainty, twenty year old bobbed-haired Elizabeth Metzger. A special healthy week committee so decided.

Miss Metzer "roughs it' in camp every summer. She doesn't smoke. She doesn't use rouge or lipstick, although she does powder. She never has worn corsets but wears high French heels. She is a lover of outdoor sports.

Love Marriages Menace.

Chinese officials have discovered that Chinese maidens marrying for affection only after the manner of the Occidental sisters, are upsetting the established social order in China and fear some is blamed for some of the modern tendencies there. Marriages in the old days were not predicated on the mutual exchange of affection nearly so much as now. The educational authorities have had to issue edicts to check the Western trend of dress among the Chinese girls.

Lamb Great Friend Maker.

Charles Lamb whose letters have always been the delight of the lovers of fine reading had a great faculty for friendship. Few men have been able to maintain such diverse relations throughout a whole life, to satisfy the demands of so many warring egotisms and reap such a harvest of affection. Not all his friendships were productive of unmitigated good to him however. His social spirit was often in conflict with the more serious needs of life.

Matterhorn Wasting Away.

The Matterhorn, the famous mountain in Switzerland, is slowly wasting away. On an average day in thawing weather, hundreds of tons of fine dirt, clay and rocks, slide down the mountain side. On some occasions thousands of tons of dirt slide in a day.

Fortune Missed by Inches.

For twenty-five years a prospector in British Columbia endeavored to locate a vein of silver lead ore near Beaverdell in the southeastern part of the province. He finally gave it up, and recently Roy Clothier and his companions, of Victoria succeeded in locating the vein on the Revenge claim. Clothier says they found the rich vein within a few inches of the series of old pits which the original owner had dug in his prospectings.

EAST END

MIDLAND ROAD TO BE OPENED

Contractors Filling up Approaches to Bridge at Smith's Ferry.

That part of the Midland-East Liverpool road between Smiths Ferry and the state line probably will be open to traffic during the early part of next week.

Rinehart Brothers, local road building contractors, are now filling the approaches to the new concrete and steel span across Beaver creek and this work, in all probability, will be completed within a few days. The fills are to be ashed with material hauled from the Midland mills in order to permit the use of this part of the road during the winter and spring.

Because of adverse weather conditions, existing during October and November, the contractors were handicapped. The road between Smiths Ferry and the state line was completed several weeks ago, while the Ferris Engineering company finished the bridge across the creek more than a month ago.

The state highway department is now ashing that section of the road between Midland and the upper end of Smiths Ferry. As soon as this work is completed, the highway will be opened to travel. Concrete was poured to a point about 500 feet west of the Smiths Ferry station when bad weather halted operations.

The Pennsylvania state highway department will grade and surface the road from the upper end of Smiths Ferry to the westerly end of the borough next year, which will complete the highway from the state line into Beaver. This section of the road was not included in the job awarded to Rinehart Brothers last summer but will be done under a separate contract.

Class Meting Held.

Members of the Welcome class of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist church met last evening with Edgar Pittenger at his home in the Lincoln highway. Following the business session a social time was enjoyed.

LOCAL LODGEMEN TO VISIT TORONTO

Large delegation of local Odd Fellows plan to visit Toronto Sunday when the lodge will have charge of the laying of the corner stone of the new high school building at place. George M. Heffner, of New Vienna, grand master of Ohio, and Grand Secretary H. D. Chaffin of Columbus with other grand lodge officers will be present and take part in the ceremonies. Members of lodges in all sections of the tri-state district will be present.

Many Indictments.

Beaver county grand jury in session this week at Beaver has returned a large number of true bills including two charging murder. Majority of cases on the calendar were those in which the parties were accused of violating the prohibition laws.

To Give Cantatas.

Plans for the annual Christmas entertainments will be announced in the churches of this section at the services Sunday. Those who will take part will begin rehearsals next week. Several of the churches will present cantatas which will be given by members of the respective choirs.

Scouts Meeting.

Members of the East End Boy Scout troop will meef this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The Girl Scouts met last night in the church.

Odd Fellows Meet.

Regular meeting of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F. was held last evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Plants were made for installation of new officers at the first meeting in January.

Paris jewelers are so incensed by attempts to steal their designs that they are demanding a law to make the practice a punishable offense.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-ONE.

Laurel blanched, fearful that Marion might have heard her ultimatum to Wyman Holt.

Marion was fumbling at the lone button on her coat and furtively eyeing the visitor. She knew very well that Wyman was a former suitor of Laurel, and that there had been talk that Laurel broke an engagement to him to marry Noble Harwood.

"Is there a dance at the country club this evening?" Laurel asked with a certain nonchalance.

Marion answered: "Um-hum," still working with the button.

"Perhaps I can help you, Marion," Laurel suggested, going to her side.

"No, I have it now." Marion moved toward Wyman.

"I suppose you are going to the dance there," Laurel intimated.

Marion did not offer to reply. "Yes," said Wyman.

"Mr. Harwood is returning shortly, and we may follow you out there."

Marion shot a glance at her escort. From the corner of his eye he detected it, and turned his gaze from Laurel to her. "Perhaps we shall see you then," he said.

Laurel watched them go with relief, and slumped down into a chair to stare into the flames shooting up in the fireplace.

Marion was silent as she allowed Wyman Holt to assist her into his roadster. For just a second before he released her arm, they looked into each other's eyes. Then Wyman left her to go around the back of the car and get in on the other side. "Beautiful night, isn't it?" he said, a little thickly

As the car gained momentum in rolling down the Harwood driveway, Marion spoke up without looking at her companion: "Let's not go to that old dance. I'd rather go to a movie. Ronald Colman is down at the Orpheum."

"What ham! The picture isn't any good. Let's go to the dance."

"I don't want to."

"Just for a little while."

"Wyman Holt, if you insist on going to that dance you can just take me back home!"

"Excuse me, Marion. I just thought you wanted to be persuaded, as usual."

"What do you mean?"

"Oh, nothing." He lifted one hand from the wheel to give one of hers a pat.

When Noble Harwood returned to his mansion two hours later he found Laurel nodding over a book in the library before the fireplace from which emanated a soft, ruddy glow that made her hair sparkle with gold. For a moment he stood in the doorway watching her, then he tiptoed to her side. "BOO!"

"Oh! . . . Oh, how you scared me!" She looked toward the great clock tick-tocking between the windows. "I didn't expect you to return so soon."

"I hurried away so we could go out. There's a dance at the country club."

"It's some private affair, isn't it? I don't remember receiving invitations."

Noble smiled lightly. "They didn't know WE would be in town or they would have sent some. We will never need invitations." He spoke in an arrogant, self-confident manner, as if to say: "We'll make the affair a success."

Laurel got up reluctantly. "I don't know whether I want to go." She was thinking that Wyman Holt would be there—with Marion.

"Oh, come on! We won't stay long." She still hesitated.

"Is it the book you don't want to leave? What is it?" he picked it up and regarded the title, "The Three Musketeers." "Oh, you like that? I do, too. But, come on, we can read it together some time."

Laurel played nervously with her fingers while waiting for Della to bring her wrap, and couldn't help being startled when Noble bent over her suddenly and kissed her lightly upon her neck.

"How sweet you are!" he said, taking her hands. He didn't notice that she shivered ever so slightly.

When Henry brought up the limousine she stumbled in getting in. "I'm tired, dear," she said, as they settled back in their seats. "Let's not stay at the dance very long."

"Just one dance or two." Secretly he was glad that the visit was to be brief. Usually she wanted to stay too long, wearing him out.

An exhilarating breeze struck them as they sped along the river road toward the club, whose lights they now could see shimmering on the water like stars come down to drink. The full moon hung low over the ripples and made of what was by day a muddy, unsightly stream a river of romance and loveliness.

"Oh, this is so good. Let's not go to the dance, but drive on and on," Laurel murmured, putting her arm through Noble's and snuggling closer.

He leaned over and spoke through the tube to Henry: "Just keep on the road—we aren't going to the club."

So on and on they went, and no word was spoken between them. Then Noble, gazing fixedly into the blackness, was startled by an exclamation from Laurel: "No, no, it's too late."

"Why, what's the matter, dear?" He had bent over and was grinning her by the arms. "What's the matter, dear?" Now he shook her. Her eyes opened. "What's the matter?" he persisted. "You called out, 'No, no, it's too late!'" Tensely he watched her.

"I must have been—dreaming," she said, wearily. Her head went slowly down to his shoulder. "Let's go home, dearest."

A half an hour later she slowly climbed the stairs on his arm, and went to her room alone. Falling down upon a chair, she let her wrap fall back and stared at herself in the mirror. Della entered and undressed her, while Laurel sat there, half in a stupor that the maid mistook for drowsiness.

"You may go now, Della," Laurel said, when the maid had helped her into a sheer, clinging nightgown of crepe, trimmed in rare old lace. Mechanically she walked to her bed, then slumped down to her knees beside it and let her head fall down upon the covers. Then she slowly raised it again, her eyes closed.

"Oh, God forgive me—forgive me for—for dreaming."

No Theaters In Java.

In Java there are no theaters to speak of, and entertainment that calls for an auditorium usually is given in large concert calls, the performance opening at 9:30 or 10 o'clock because it is too warm prior to that hour to ask an audience to assemble. The concert halls are connected to clubs usually.

Prescriptions— ALWAYS come FIRST!

We'd rather ten customers had to "wait a minute" than to HURRY making a delicately adjusted prescription. Nothing is more important to US than a carefully composed prescription from your Doctor. We want you to KNOW this!

Important Events!

Nothing promotes them more happily or cosily than the Rhuamo Laxative Tablets we sell here for 25c a package. For those who feel the need of such but who dislike the thought of depending on an outside agency for its success, we state that there are no uncomfortable "after effects."

Cracked Skin!

Next to a "steam burn" nothing is more disagreeable than "chapped skin." We have a scientifically composed Healing Balm, which we guarantee to give you IMMEDIATE and COMPLETE skin comfort. Cost 25c the bottle.

Did Exley Pull A "Boner?"

Syd Exley, window dresser at the Sixth St. store, worked several days putting a fireplace in the window and after he had it finished and stockings hung up some one said there is no sock hung up for Dad. Ex says that Dad is supposed to get the whole top of the mantle and we hope so for we have some mighty good cigars that Dad would appreciate and enough other things he would like to cover the top of the mantle.

Police and Fountain News!

There use to be a drink called "Tom and Jerry,"
And if I remember rightly it was plenty "merry."
It appeared everywhere 'bout this time of year.
And was full of ideas and a lotta cheer!

I wonder what a Sody would do TODAY
If he was introduced to a T. and J.!
I bet he'd holler and call a cop
Unless I'd make him quit and stop!

Christmas Shopping, Dentists and Pain!

Each one of them you "put off" just as doggone long as you can. Everyone struggles against "painting the house," going to the dentist, and buying Christmas presents! Then at the LAST MINIT (in all three cases) there's a mad rush, hot arguments, busted appointments and 1000 beads of sweat! We all seem to thrive on it, tho, somehow or other, and it may be for the best after all.

My JUDGMENT tells me to "SHOP EARLY" but my old chum, I. N. ERTIA tell me: "Awh Shucks—got PLENTY of time — Do it tomorrow! So I diddle, daddle, doodle along just the same as I do EVERY CHRISTMAS.

Still I do think it's a smart trick to get the job over with—if you've got the courage — to shop NOW!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

Jack asked me if I believed it was good sense to get one's Christmas shopping done early and I says "Yes and NO." So Jack says, "How many turkeys can you eat for Christmas?" and I says: "I dunno, I'll tell you later." And Jack says: "Well, hurry up so I can get you aplenty." So I'm starting in training for Christmas. This is the third one I've et in 24 hours and I've still gotta couple wrinkles around my belt line. Let you know next week how I come out.

A Watch Makes a Nice Present Sometimes!

Get a standard make, however, for some of these watches that look flossy and glisteny are just a bundle of junk. We carry only the kind that tote reputations like Ingersoll.

Proud and Haughty!

And don't blame us a bit for we sure have outfitted ourselves completely this year with the widest, completest variety of Xmas candies we ever had. Principally Whitman's. You can't go wrong if you buy Whitman's. There may be better candies than Whitman's but if there is it will be admitted that the knowledge is not general.

Daintily Correct!

Our line of Stationery now in a variety of colors as well as white. Smooth papers and crinkly papers, all kinds of edges, regular size envelopes and the mannishly large ones and should be written with out of our Sheaffer or Parker Pens. Most anybody would be glad to get a box of stationery and a fountain pen for Christmas.

And Here's Another!

Being presented with a camera never YET made a person mistreat the donor. It's a year round utility and makes whole families happy. We have them at a variety of prices, both Kodaks and Brownies, made by Eastman.

A Burning Shame!

Be careful of the Seegars you give him. He can't be fooled by a trick name and a flossy wrapper. Better play safe and let us advise you a bit. Our line of Xmas boxes run from $1 to $7.50 for the smokes. Advice practically free.

Our Radio Store!

Our radio store is a mighty busy place these days. 622 St. Clair Ave. Next to Central Fire Station. Over there they specialize in radio and if you want to be sure of a set for Xmas you had better go over and talk with them now.

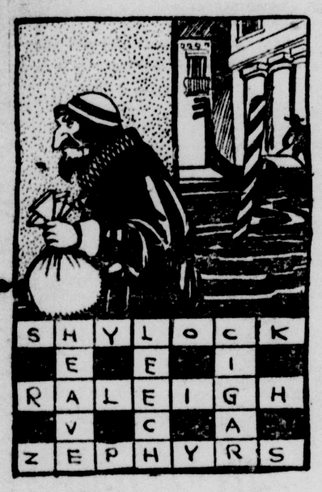
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.



Finland, the country of long winters, is becoming an electric fan center, the fans being used for ventilating purposes in public places in cold weather.

Phrase Has French Origin.

The pharse "a place in the sun" is of French origin. The French revolution in 1848 had been successful; Lamartine was head of the government for a brief period. Every revolutionary junta in Paris—Poles, Irish, and others—was besieging the new ruler for help and encouragement. To a delegation of aggressive Poles, the author of the "History of the Girondists" said: "Poland has not only been a reproach, she has been a living remorse standing in the midst of Europe. Providence shall some day restore to you without aggression, without spilling of human blood, the place which is due you in the sun and on the catalogue of nations."

Yiddish Language Traced.

From the German word "judisch," the word "Yiddish" was derived as denoting a branch of the Jewish tongue. "Judisch" means of course "Jewish" and Yiddish is a dialect spoken by a large number of Jews. Roughly speaking Yiddish contains about seventy per cent German words, twenty per cent Hebrew and ten per cent slavic. Hebrew characters are used in writing Yiddish. It had its origin when the Jews migrated from Germany into Russia in the fifteenth century. Those Jews wrote and spoke German fluently. In each country they absorbed some of the characteristics of that country's language.

Strand Engages "Snooze" Kinneard's Orange Blossoms

There is a treat in store for the patrons of the Strand theatre when Jack "Snooze" Kinneard and his Orange Blossoms open a one week's engagement beginning with a matinee on Monday, December 14. "The Girl From Panama" will be the opening attraction, and is the show that made Jack Kinneard famous for his wonderful comedy character of "Snooze."

Assisting Kinneard is one of the best balanced and most popular cast of musical comedy players ever to play at the Strand. During the action of the play there will be several vaudeville specialties introduced—also a variety of popular numbers by the members of the cast—assisted by one of the peppiest choruses in musical comedy.

"The Girl From Panama" is a scream from start to finish. "Snooze" will sing, "I'm Lonely Since My Monkey Died."

In the company are such well-known musical comedy artists as Edythe Bates, Jane Oliver, Arthur Harrison, William Dyer, Charles Greiner, Ambrose Haley, Essie Dyer, Eddie Trout, and Tommy Seymour.

This attraction is advertised as "The Cleanest Show on Earth" and promises to live up to its reputation.

Sheep Population Falls.

The sheep population of the United States is apparently falling. In 1903, it is stated, there were 63,960,000 head of sheep in the country, but in 1924 the number fell to a little less than 40,000,000. This is a decline of 39 per cent. It has been pointed out, however, that the figures for 1924 were gathered without taking into account the 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 lambs that could be expected, so that the situation may not be as bad as it looks at first blush.

Eggs Used as Currency in Remote Armenia Region

Erivan, Armenia.—Eggs are being used as currency in the Kara Kala district of Armenia, where the American Near East Relief is operating. Twelve eggs are accepted on their "face value" as equivalent to 1 ruble, or 50 cents in American currency. If any of the eggs prove bad, they may be returned as "illegal tender." The new form of "currency" is made necessary owing to the difficulty of getting the regular soviet money to Kara Kala, which is buried deep in the mountains of Armenia. A pair of American shoes in Kara Kala costs 200 eggs.

Paleolithic Skeletons Found in Siberia

Krasnoyarsk, Siberia.—Excavations on Afrantoy mountain near here have resulted in the discovery of several skeletons of paleolithic men and the remains of several hundred mammoths, wolves and bears. The skeletons are believed by Russian archeologists to be about 80,000 years old. Weapons and tools of hitherto unknown types also were found. Among these are curiously shaped cudgels made of tusks of the mammoth.

Sale of Land to Benefit Schools of Tennessee

Nashville, Tenn.—Tennessee public schools will benefit from the sale of unclaimed and vacant lands when a defect is cured in an act passed by the state legislature in 1903 making it mandatory on the state to sell unclaimed lands.

Under the provisions of this old law, untilled properties must be sold for the benefit of the schools. But the law failed to designate any certain officer to conduct the sale.

There are many thousands of acres of such lands in the state, some tracts rich in mineral deposits, some with valuable stands of timber and others rich agriculturally.

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Piles are unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do!

At any hour or moment that you have the least distress or discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository—and go happily on your way! The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind; Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is marvelous. Why suffer another single half-hour with painful piles?

Sixty cents the box, the world around. But for proof, a free box plainly wrapped will be sent those who write Pyramid Drug Co., 200 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CITY MAY LEASE COURT HOME

TOLEDO 'CLUB KILLER' AGAIN AT WORK

TODAY

Providing for Two.
Government Could.
Don't Start. I'll Run.
The High City.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Copyright, 1925.

John Bagnano treated Olympia Macri very badly. She shot and killed him. The jury acquits here. Mrs. Whitney, kind-hearted woman, widow of a distinguished judge, provides a home for the girl and her baby. The undertaker provided permanent residence for John Bagnano.

Murder is a hideous thing, but some things are worse, and the Macri jury will have public approval.

The president says the nation is more in danger of being retarded by mistaken government activity than it is from lack of legislation."

Generally speaking, that's so, especially with some modern kinds of government. Nevertheless, while selfish private initiative is useful, intelligent government initiative COULD be a thousand times more useful.

Private initiative could not have built the Panama canal or established the national postoffice, which sends a letter from Florida to Alaska for two cents. It could not—without legislation and government help—have established railroads across the continent.

Government "fussing" is not desirable, especially when it is done by order of Wall street's "big butter and egg men," but it is wholly desirable when it is based on real intelligence and on independence of the plutocracy, so powerful an agency in the United States just now.

Uncle Sam, it seems, is to be "eased" into the world court because some of our statesmen are afraid of what dear old ladies may think of we stay out. As he goes in, sidewise, looking behind him, Uncle Sam will say: "If you start anything, I'll run." That is what you might call a dignified entrance into the European muddle.

George Washington, with fewer than 4,000,000 Americans behind him, thought that he and the United States could stand on their own feet without help from Europe.

Today's brand of statesmen, backed by 115,000,000 Americans and about all the money there is in the world, think this country CAN'T take care of itself. The trouble is with them, not with the country.

America's biggest city, New York, does things on a big scale. So do dozens of other American cities, from Seattle to Miami and from San Diego to Portland, Me.

Our European friends read with amazement that a young American, Arthur S. Williams, boss of the electric light industry, sells in New York city more electricity than is used by 12 European countries with a combined population of 109,000,000.

The 12 countries that use less electricity than New York city alone are: Greece, Denmark, Latvia, Jugoslavia,

FIEND ATTACKS PRETTY CO-ED AS SHE GOES TO UNIVERSITY

VICTIM CHOKED

Assailant Believed Man Who Murdered Two Other Women.

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—Possibility that Toledo's "club murderer," who killed two women and injured nine others since last May, may be again at work was seen by Toledo police today, when Miss Louise E. Washburn, 18, freshman co-ed at Toledo university, was attacked by a mysterious man at the entrance to the university grounds this morning while on her way to school.

Miss Washburn, in a highly hysterical condition, was taken to her home.

Girl Screamed for Help.

The girl, who had been driven to the university by a friend, had just left the auto, when a man, said to have been about five feet tall, and weighing 150 pounds, came from behind and grabbed her throat. As Miss Washburn struggled she fell to the ground, and when she arose, her assailant again began choking her. Leaving her coat in his hands, the girl eluded him once more still closely pursued.

A third time he grabbed her throat, but not before she had screamed loudly.

Apparently fearing pursuit her assailant said:

"Pick up your books and go to school.'

Flees, Then Faints.

The girl fled and fainted as she reached the steps of the university.

Turkey Ready to Fight Britain For Oil Fields of Mosul

Mustapha Kemal, Convinced League Will Award Disputed Territory to Irak, is Preparing for War.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Turkey is prepared to make war against Great Britain for possession of the oil fields of Mosul, according to disquieting reports reaching here today.

Convinced that the league of nations council will award Mosul to Irak, which is under British mandate, Mustapha Kemal is reported to be preparing to use force of arms to assert Turkish claims to Mosul.

Quantities of arms and ammunition are known to have been shipped into Turkey within the last few weeks. Rigid inspections are being made of Turkish troops now on border duty, and plans are being made for a direct railroad route to the border for the prompt movement of troops and supplies.

The Turkish army now consists of nearly half a million men and is said to be capable of expansion to twice that number upon the outbreak of hostilities.

Germans Making Planes.

Mustapha Kemal is himself acting as commander-in-chief of the army and Fevzi Pasha, who won fame during the Greco-Turkish war, is chief of staff. The army is organized under

Avoid Duplication Of Welfare Work, Major Hughes Asks

Field Major Joseph Hughes of the Salvation Army today asked churches and clubs which plan the distribution of Christmas baskets among needy families, to furnish the names and addresses of the recipients to the Army, in order to prevent a duplication of welfare work.

BODIES OF 50 MEN ARE TAKEN FROM WRECKED ALABAMA MINE

Three Other Miners are Known to be Dead.

GAS EXPLOSION

Presence of "Black Damp" Handicaps Volunteers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 11—The death toll in the Overton mine explosion mounted to 53 today following checkups by officers of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, owners of the mine.

Eight white men and forty-five negroes are known to be dead, officials said.

The bodies of six white men and 44 negroes have been recovered. Two other white miners and at least one negro victim are known to be dead in the bottom of the shaft.

Rescue Work Difficult.

The presence of "black damp" in the lower levels of the pit after the explosion made rescue work slow and difficult. Two rescue workers were overcome during the night, when they went into the lower levels searching for bodies. They declared no one could live more than a few minutes in the lower part of the mine, where the 10 missing men are.

Rescue workers, exhausted by their sustained efforts through the night, were continuing their search for bodies today.

Bodies of the dead were removed to an improvised morgue near the mouth of the pit, where their relatives gathered to identify them, as rapidly as they were brought from the smoke-blackened mouth of the underground shambles where they died.

Seventeen Are Injured.

The little mining camp, swept with intense excitement and hysteria when the blast came, had regained its stolid composure today. Women and children, relatives of the dead miners, gathered quietly to pick their dead from among the long line of bodies in the rude shelter which served as a morgue, weeping quietly, while the surviving men of the community had joined the rescue efforts, helping to bring the bodies to the surface, or assisting in the care of the injured.

Five of the injured were seriously enough hurt to necessitate removal to a hospital. A dozen others were only slightly bruised, burned or gassed as the terrific blast swept the pit.

The explosion ranks as one of the major disasters in the coal mining industry of the nation, according to rescue workers from the United States bureau of mines who were rushed to the mouth of the pit from Birmingham at the first report of the blast.

Senate Committee O. K.'s Nomination of Davis and MacNider

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The nomination of Dwight F. Davis as secretary of war and Col. Hanford MacNider as assistant secretary of war were approved today by the senate military affairs committee.

The committee also endorsed appointments of approximately 700 army officers.

THOMPSON BUILDING, MARKET STREET, SOUGHT FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Suggest Use of Second and Third Floors of Structure, Which Will Require Little Remodeling, as Headquarters for Jurist and Co-workers as Well as Council Meeting Place.

ASK $75 MONTHLY RENTAL, BUT PLAN MEANS OUTLAY OF ONLY $10

Solons' Proposal Calls for Transfer of Water Works Office From Fourth Street to City Hall, While Auditor's Quarters Will be Moved to Councilmanic Chamber.

Second and third floors of the George C. Thompson building on the northwest corner of Fourth and Market streets will be the home of East Liverpool's municipal court to be established January 1, if legislation to be considered at the councilmanic meeting tonight is enacted.

Solicitor Harry Brokaw, upon instructions from members of the municipal legislative body, has prepared an ordinance providing for the leasing of the two floors of the building for a term of two years at a rental of $75 per month or $800 per year.

According to council's plans, offices of the court clerk, judge and perhaps another city official will be established on the second floor while the third floor will be used as a court room. The new quarters will require little remodeling, it is said.

Council members, Solicitor Brokaw, Service Director Ellis and a committee from the bar association recently inspected the proposed location. Director Ellis was instructed to seek an option on a lease from Mr. Thompson, pending legislative action, but up until today it had not been obtained. It is understood that the building can be rented at the price quoted the solons by the bar association committee, which was headed by Attorney Walter B. Hill.

Arrangement of Offices.

The two floors of the building at the present time are occupied by The Milligan Hardware and Supply company which is preparing to move to the new Diamond alley location. On the second floor is a suite of five rooms, one of which will be used by the judge as his private office, a second by the clerk of the court and another for the clerk's records. The rear room would be available, councilmen suggests, for the city solicitor or city engineer, or may be used as a jury room.

The proposed court room on the third floor will have a seating capacity of 200 or more persons. The judge's bench will be erected in the east end of the room. On either side of the bench will be ample space for the court stenographer or clerk and jury. A railing will divide this part of the room from the space reserved for spetators. In the west end of the room is an ante room which may be used for jury purposes. Both floors are provided with lavatories.

Council has suggested that the rental may be saved by transferring the wa-

TRUCK LICENSE TAGS ARRIVE

Only 100 Pleasure Car Plates Issued During Week.

Deputy Automobile Commissioner James S. Hilbert today began the distribution of the 1926 series of license plates for motor trucks.

The tags for pleasure cars have been available for about a week, but the first shipment of plates for trucks did not arrive here until yesterday. The shipment consisted of 700 pairs of plates, beginning with 97-201 and ending with 97-900.

Only about 100 automobile owners of the 6,000 motor car owners residing in East Liverpool and the immediate vicinity have applied for the new licenses, Hilbert declared today. Unless motorists obtain their licenses they will not be permitted to drive after January 1, as state officials have announced that no time extension will be granted. The applicant must fur-

"TRUANT HEIRESS" IS DISILLUSIONED GIRL AS SHE RETURNS TO HER HOME

"Peggy" Wood, 19-year-old Art Student, Missing Since Nov. 7, Found in New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — Margaret Wood, "truant heiress," was a disillusioned girl as she prepared to return to her home in Philadelphia today.

The 19-year-old art student had visions of a "career" when she fled from her home on November 7, telling nobody where she was going. She left via a back window.

For weeks the authorities have been searching for "Peggy," as her friends called her.

The other day Margaret made the mistake of writing a friend in Philadelphia to send her money. She wrote the letter on the stationery of Hotel Richmond, New York city. This provided a fruitful clew and the first thing Margaret knew a representative of the missing persons bureau came up to her in the hotel lobby while she was reading and addressed her by her first name.

"Peggy," it developed had not cut out a career for herself during her absence from home.

In fact, she spent a great deal of her time in hotels, reading and writing letters, receiving no callers and whiling away time. She first came to the Hotel Martinique, New York, then went to Lewiston, Me., for some unexplained reason, where she stayed

U. S. HAS CORNER OF GOLD SUPPLY AS WELL AS WORLD MONEY STOCKS

America, However, Gave Way During Year to Many Foreign Nations in Currency.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Staggering figures, reflecting the financial power of the United States, were contained in the annual report of Comptroller of the Currency, J. W. McIntosh made public today.

The combined banking power of all banks in the country is $60,469,400,000, an increase of $4,022,900,000 since June, 1924.

Money stocks of the principal countries of the world were given as $9,669,359,000 of which the United States holds $8,221,200,000.

The United States has a corner of the gold supply with a stock valued at $4,546,407,000. Great Britain has $760,874,000, France, $710,000,000; Japan, $585,138,000; Spain, $489,164,000, and Argentine, $453,175,000.

This country, however, gave way to many foreign nations in circulation of paper currency. Hungary took first place in a walk with a total of 4,513,858,560,000 krone, with France second with 40,603,965,000 francs. United States has $5,320,946,000 in paper.

Bank clearings for the year ending September 30 reached the colossal total of $505,299,000,000 more than $62,299,000,000 in excess of the preceding year.

National banks had $19,105,000,000 in loans and investments, $1,500,000,000 greater than a year before, while the national bank resources were $24,570,000,000, an increase of over a billion dollars in 12 months.

John Bagnano treated Olympia Macri very badly. She shot and killed him. The jury acquits here. Mrs. Whitney, kind-hearted woman, widow of a distinguished judge, provides a home for the girl and her baby. The undertaker provided permanent residence for John Bagnano.

Murder is a hideous thing, but some things are worse, and the Macri jury will have public approval.

The president says the nation is more in danger of being retarded by mistaken government activity than it is from lack of legislation."

Generally speaking, that's so, especially with some modern kinds of government. Nevertheless, while selfish private initiative is useful, intelligent government initiative COULD be a thousand times more useful.

Private initiative could not have built the Panama canal or established the national postoffice, which sends a letter from Florida to Alaska for two cents. It could not—without legislation and government help—have established railroads across the continent.

Government "fussing" is not desirable, especially when it is done by order of Wall street's "big butter and egg men," but it is wholly desirable when it is based on real intelligence and on independence of the plutocracy, so powerful an agency in the United States just now.

Uncle Sam, it seems, is to be "chased" into the world court because some of our statesmen are afraid of what dear old ladies may think of we stay out. As he goes in, sidewise, looking behind him, Uncle Sam will say: "If you start anything, I'll run." That is what you might call a dignified entrance into the European muddle.

George Washington, with fewer than 4,000,000 Americans behind him, thought that he and the United States could stand on their own feet without help from Europe.

Today's brand of statesmen, backed by 115,000,000 Americans and about all the money there is in the world, think this country CAN'T take care of itself. The trouble is with them, not with the country.

America's biggest city, New York, does things on a big scale. So do dozens of other American cities, from Seattle to Miami and from San Diego to Portland, Me.

Our European friends read with amazement that a young American, Arthur S. Williams, boss of the electric light industry, sells in New York city more electricity than is used by 12 European countries with a combined population of 109,000,000.

The 12 countries that use less electricity than New York city alone are: Greece, Denmark, Latvia, Jugoslavia,

FIEND ATTACKS PRETTY CO-ED AS SHE GOES TO UNIVERSITY

VICTIM CHOKED

Assailant Believed Man Who Murdered Two Other Women.

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—Possibility that Toledo's "club murderer," who killed two women and injured nine others since last May, may be again at work was seen by Toledo police today, when Miss Louise E. Washburn, 18, freshman co-ed at Toledo university, was attacked by a mysterious man at the entrance to the university grounds this morning while on her way to school.

Miss Washburn, in a highly hysterical condition, was taken to her home.

Girl Screamed for Help.

The girl, who had been driven to the university by a friend, had just left the auto, when a man, said to have been about five feet tall, and weighing 150 pounds, came from behind and grabbed her throat. As Miss Washburn struggled she fell to the ground, and when she arose, her assailant again began choking her. Leaving her coat in his hands, the girl eluded him once more still closely pursued.

A third time he grabbed her throat, but not before she had screamed loudly.

Apparently fearing pursuit her assailant said:

"Pick up your books and go to school.'

Flees, Then Faints.

The girl fled and fainted as she reached the steps of the university.

Turkey Ready to Fight Britain For Oil Fields of Mosul

Mustapha Kemal, Convinced League Will Award Disputed Territory to Irak, is Preparing for War.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Turkey is prepared to make war against Great Britain for possession of the oil fields of Mosul, according to disquieting reports reaching here today.

Convinced that the league of nations council will award Mosul to Irak, which is under British mandate, Mustapha Kemal is reported to be preparing to use force of arms to assert Turkish claims to Mosul.

Quantities of arms and ammunition are known to have been shipped into Turkey within the last few weeks. Rigid inspections are being made of Turkish troops now on border duty, and plans are being made for a direct railroad route to the border for the prompt movement of troops and supplies.

The Turkish army now consists of nearly half a million men and is said to be capable of expansion to twice that number upon the outbreak of hostilities.

BODIES OF 50 MEN ARE TAKEN FROM WRECKED ALABAMA MINE

Three Other Miners are Known to be Dead.

GAS EXPLOSION

Presence of "Black Damp" Handicaps Volunteers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 11—The death toll in the Overton mine explosion mounted to 53 today following checkups by officers of the Alabama Fuel and Iron company, owners of the mine.

Eight white men and forty-five negroes are known to be dead, officials said.

The bodies of six white men and 44 negroes have been recovered. Two other white miners and at least one negro victim are known to be dead in the bottom of the shaft.

Rescue Work Difficult.

The presence of "black damp" in the lower levels of the pit after the explosion made rescue work slow and difficult. Two rescue workers were overcome during the night, when they went into the lower levels searching for bodies. They declared no one could live more than a few minutes in the lower part of the mine, where the 10 missing men are.

Rescue workers, exhausted by their sustained efforts through the night, were continuing their search for bodies today.

Bodies of the dead were removed to an improvised morgue near the mouth of the pit, where their relatives gathered to identify them, as rapidly as they were brought from the smoke-blackened mouth of the underground shambles where they died.

Seventeen Are Injured.

The little mining camp, swept with intense excitement and hysteria when the blast came, had regained its stolid composure today. Women and children, relatives of the dead miners, gathered quietly to pick their dead from among the long line of bodies in the rude shelter which served as a morgue, weeping quietly, while the surviving men of the community had joined the rescue efforts, helping to bring the bodies to the surface, or assisting in the care of the injured.

Five of the injured were seriously enough hurt to necessitate removal to a hospital. A dozen others were only slightly bruised, burned or gassed as the terrific blast swept the pit.

The explosion ranks as one of the major disasters in the coal mining industry of the nation, according to rescue workers from the United States bureau of mines who were rushed to the mouth of the pit from Birmingham at the first report of the blast.

THOMPSON BUILDING, MARKET STREET, SOUGHT FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGE

Suggest Use of Second and Third Floors of Structure, Which Will Require Little Remodeling, as Headquarters for Jurist and Co-workers as Well as Council Meeting Place.

ASK $75 MONTHLY RENTAL, BUT PLAN MEANS OUTLAY OF ONLY $10

Solons' Proposal Calls for Transfer of Water Works Office From Fourth Street to City Hall, While Auditor's Quarters Will be Moved to Councilmanic Chamber.

Second and third floors of the George C. Thompson building on the northwest corner of Fourth and Market streets will be the home of East Liverpool's municipal court to be established January 1, if legislation to be considered at the councilmanic meeting tonight is enacted.

Solicitor Harry Brokaw, upon instructions from members of the municipal legislative body, has prepared an ordinance providing for the leasing of the two floors of the building for a term of two years at a rental of $75 per month or $800 per year.

According to council's plans, offices of the court clerk, judge and perhaps another city official will be established on the second floor while the third floor will be used as a court room. The new quarters will require little remodeling, it is said.

Council members, Solicitor Brokaw, Service Director Ellis and a committee from the bar association recently inspected the proposed location. Director Ellis was instructed to seek an option on a lease from Mr. Thompson, pending legislative action, but up until today it had not been obtained. It is understood that the building can be rented at the price quoted the solons by the bar association committee, which was headed by Attorney Walter B. Hill.

Arrangement of Offices.

The two floors of the building at the present time are occupied by The Milligan Hardware and Supply company which is preparing to move to the new Diamond alley location. On the second floor is a suite of five rooms, one of which will be used by the judge as his private office, a second by the clerk of the court and another for the clerk's records. The rear room would be available, councilmen suggests, for the city solicitor or city engineer, or may be used as a jury room.

The proposed court room on the third floor will have a seating capacity of 200 or more persons. The judge's bench will be erected in the east end of the room. On either side of the bench will be ample space for the court stenographer or clerk and jury. A railing will divide this part of the room from the space reserved for spetators. In the west end of the room is an ante room which may be used for jury purposes. Both floors are provided with lavatories.

Council has suggested that the rental may be saved by transferring the wa-

'Is Zat So?' New York Comedy Success, At Ceramic Tonight

Richard Taber, Co-author, Will Appear in Cast of Chicago Company Which is Brought Here.

The offering at the Ceramic theatre tonight will be James Gleason and Richard Taber's phenomenally successful American comedy, "Is Zat So?" which scored a triumph at the Chanin theatre in New York, where it has been playing to capacity audiences since last January. The comedy duplicated its New York success in Chicago, with a special company of which Richard Taber, one of the authors, is a member, and which recently closed a six months' engagement. The complete Chicago organization will be brought by Earle Boothe in association with the Messrs. Shubert to the stage of the Ceramic theatre.

"Is Zat So?" is credited with having an original theme, and it is said the authors wrote a play that is peppery, with a new angle in romance and plenty of wholesome, clean dashing comedy and enough perplexing situations to keep things constantly on the move.

Chicken Feed Mine Found.

With the rapidly rising cost of crushed oyster shells for chicken feed the discovery of a mine of argonite or calcium carbonate has been found so important that the mine is at once going to be developed. The mine is in Clarkstene, Cache county, Utah and the installation of $2,000 worth of machinery is thought worth while, because of the potentiality of the mine for chicken feed alone.

Cross Word Puzzle Adds to Income of Tokyo Postoffice

TOKYO.—Tokyo postal officials are smiling these days and the cross-word puzzle is responsible. Just at a time when times are pretty hard in Japan the postoffice will receive approximately $150,000 added revenue in 1925 because of Japanese enthusiasm for cross-worders.

An investigation has revealed that between August 20 and October 31, more than 500,000 letters dealing with cross-word puzzles were handled by the Tokyo Central postoffice.

Besides the cross-word puzzles appearing in English language newspapers in Tokyo and elsewhere, scores of vernacular newspapers throughout the country are publishing these puzzles in the Japanese language regularly.

Northwest Turns to Fur Ranching as Paying Investment

ST PAUL—Fur ranching is a new industry in the Northwest.

Stirred by reports of success of silver fox farms and with the supply of wild fur-bearing animals dwindling, trappers and others with an eye to business are planning for ranches of varying nature. The state provides they must operate under regulations with regard to equipment and care of animals.

Such ordinary dependable fur bearers as the racoon and muskrat are almost extinct in the Northwest, J. F. McGill, State Game and Fish Commissioner, declares. The season is now closed to everything except the skunk and fisher.

'Is Zat So?' New York Comedy Success, At Ceramic Tonight

Richard Taber, Co-author, Will Appear in Cast of Chicago Company Which is Brought Here.

The offering at the Ceramic theatre tonight will be James Gleason and Richard Taber's phenomenally successful American comedy, "Is Zat So?" which scored a triumph at the Chanin theatre in New York, where it has been playing to capacity audiences since last January. The comedy duplicated its New York success in Chicago, with a special company of which Richard Taber, one of the authors, is a member, and which recently closed a six months' engagement. The complete Chicago organization will be brought by Earle Boothe in association with the Messrs. Shubert to the stage of the Ceramic theatre.

"Is Zat So?" is credited with having an original theme, and it is said the authors wrote a play that is peppery, with a new angle in romance and plenty of wholesome, clean dashing comedy and enough perplexing situations to keep things constantly on the move.

Chicken Feed Mine Found.

With the rapidly rising cost of crushed oyster shells for chicken feed the discovery of a mine of argonite or calcium carbonate has been found so important that the mine is at once going to be developed. The mine is in Clarkstone, Cache county, Utah and the installation of $2,000 worth of machinery is thought worth while, because of the potentiality of the mine for chicken feed alone.

Cross Word Puzzle Adds to Income of Tokyo Postoffice

TOKYO.—Tokyo postal officials are smiling these days and the cross-word puzzle is responsible. Just at a time when times are pretty hard in Japan the postoffice will receive approximately $150,000 added revenue in 1925 because of Japanese enthusiasm for cross-worders.

An investigation has revealed that between August 20 and October 31, more than 500,000 letters dealing with cross-word puzzles were handled by the Tokyo Central postoffice.

Besides the cross-word puzzles appearing in English language newspapers in Tokyo and elsewhere, scores of vernacular newspapers throughout the country are publishing these puzzles in the Japanese language regularly.

Northwest Turns to Fur Ranching as Paying Investment

ST PAUL—Fur ranching is a new industry in the Northwest.

Stirred by reports of success of silver fox farms and with the supply of wild fur-bearing animals dwindling, trappers and others with an eye to business are planning for ranches of varying nature. The state provides they must operate under regulations with regard to equipment and care of animals.

Such ordinary dependable fur bearers as the racoon and muskrat are almost extinct in the Northwest, J. F. McGill, State Game and Fish Commissioner, declares. The season is now closed to everything except the skunk and fisher.

Hindu Barbers Versatile.

In India the barbers are strolling journeymen of many trades. Besides cutting hair the Hindu barber spreads news of births, attends funerals and shaves the heads of the living and the dead. He also bores the girls' ears and noses for earrings and often attends weddings as "best man." They do not have shops and the barber pole means nothing in their existence.

BACK-TO-FARM MOVEMENT ON IN NORTHWEST

Good Crops in 1924 and 1925 Encourage Tillers.

LEAVE CANADA

Price of Acreage is Climbing in Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, Minn. — A back-to-the-farm movement of no small proportions is getting under way in Minnesota and other northwest states. Although the cities in this section continue to grow much faster than rural communities, and there is no general rush to the plow, a retrogressive movement which was in evidence in agriculture during the after-the-war depression has changed to a positive forward movement.

Good crops in 1924 and 1925 throughout the northwest, coupled with much higher prices, has so bettered agrarian conditions that many are willing to try the land again.

"Inquiries on farm lands in Minnesota at the present time exceed any total for any period in the last five years," declares Oscar Smith, commissioner of immigration. "Hundreds of people engaged in farming moved to the cities when wages were exceptionally high in larger centers of population. These people are now returning to the farms since conditions again are approaching normal."

Some Quit Canada.

A feature of the movement, Smith has discovered, is that many inquiries come from farmers who emigrated to Canada to try wheat farming on a large scale, and now are returning to this country to do mixed farming. Dairying is to be the basis of farming for nearly all new settlers, he says.

"Minnesota farmers this year did not specialize in any one crop, but rather centered efforts on a diversity of crops," said J. H. Hay, deputy commissioner of agriculture. "This was a good business move and indicates that the diversified farming movement has gained many adherents. The process of educating the farmer to employ better business methods was in operation throughout the year and will be continued in the future."

Commissioner of Immigration Joseph M. Devine, of North Dakota, also reports many inquiries for farm lands and predicts a considerable immigration to that state in the spring, while the same conditions exist in South Dakota. In the latter state, a current sale of 80 acres for $250 an acre was the first at that high price in several years.

Along with the increase in dairying, there is a marked growth of the sheep raising business on northwestern farms.

Children in all parts of the world enjoy the $43,000 worth of toys made in homes of Czechoslovak every month.

Women In Congress

Women were much in evidence at the opening of the present congress. The house galleries were packed with them. They swarmed about the corridors. Which was natural enough, for their sex made notable gains. There were three women to be sworn in as members.

Two of them, Mrs. Rogers, of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Kahn, of California, may be regarded as representatives of their deceased husbands, whom they have succeeded. The third, Mrs. Norton, of New Jersey, attained her office normally. Before women really become a power in congress, there must be many of them there in their own right. That is sure to come.

The women in congress so far can hardly be said to have made much impress on that body, but give them time. Individually they have probably averaged as well as the men. Eventually, with experience and fuller knowledge, they may do better than the men, because women seem more conscientious and determined in their public service.

College Militarism

An issue has arisen between the war department and a large group of educators and public men, regarding military training in schools and colleges. The policy of encouraging such training in the educational institutions, which was favored or at least tolerated during and immediately after the war, is now seriously questioned.

The war department continues to stand "squarely in favor of military training for the greatest possible number of students, considering available personnel, funds and equipment.

The opposition has come out with a declaration which not only urges pacifism but urges the claims of education itself. "Colleges and universities," it says, "are peculiarly inappropriate fields for military training and for the intrusive presence of a military bureaucracy."

This language is, perhaps, needlessly offensive. There isn't much "military bureaucracy" in America, nor much chance of it. Nevertheless there is much to be said for the point of view indicated.

College boys have enough difficulty keeping their minds on their academic studies as matters stand, with the distractions of athletics and social life. Military work, in institutions that are not specifically conducted as military schools, may add unnecessarily to those distractions.

Reformed Billboards

"Bigger, better billboards" might be a contradiction in terms. But at least outdoor advertising is to be better. Assurance is given by men who have power to make their word good. They are the billboard men themselves, assembled in national convention.

All the leading concerns engaged in the signboard business have agreed to do their best to make signboards less objectionable. Pictures and reading matter are to be censored by the industry itself, morally and artistically, and billboards are not to be forced upon purely residential neighborhoods or placed where they will endanger traffic or mar scenic beauty.

The industry has been influenced, clearly enough, by public criticism. It has come to a point where reform is good policy. Self-reform may forestall more drastic reform from without.

The public welcomes such evidence of good intent, and will cheerfully give the billboard people every chance to make their kind of advertising less objectionable. But the public itself remains judge of such matters, and public authority must have the last word.

Sympathy Toward The Past

A Tennessee newspaper, interested in the stream of tourists continually passing through its town, makes a plea to local citizens to tone up the famous historical shrines and landmarks and make them interesting as well as authentic.

Among the things worth preserving and marking is an old log cabin with loop-holes through which the inhabitants used to watch for and shoot at attacking Indians. There is a home of Andrew Jackson which is now unmarked and falling into disrepair. There is the former home of a beloved local poet. And there are other spots in which a community with even a faint touch of New England's interest in history would take pride and which would undoubtedly be of interest to tourists.

Americans, on the whole, believing in the present and future rather than the past, often fail to distinguish between what is old and useless and what is old and valuable, discarding both. There isn't much sense in retaining and caring for old buildings if they are nuisances or if they menace true progress and health in some way. On the other hand, America has grown so fast and her customs and modes of living have changed so fast that people today have little opportunity of picturing for themselves the struggles their forebears had to go through with in making their contribution to the nation's development. And yet this sympathy toward the past is worth preserving. Pride in local history and its landmarks is a fine things if it truly teaches and inspires noble effort.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Thoughts while strolling: A Frenchman wearing gray silk gloves. Whatever became of derbies with air holes? William A. Brady. Who distrusts fashionably dressed men and men with white eyebrows. Wonder if a caliope was ever in perfect tune?

The nickel cigar returns. Also the 15 cent shave. What the country now needs is a dollar play. The warehouse on 10th avenue where stage gymnasts rehearse. And a pair of discarded pink tights in an ash can. Prohibition aftermath; a barrel of squeezed orange rinds.

Walk-up apartments fitted with birdseye maple and glass baskets of fake fruit on the parlor table. A dingy drug-store with wax angels in the window. A huge meat market of patterned brick. Vendors peddling dream books and sex weeklies.

Professional cards fastened to doors with thumb tacks. Curtain cleaners. Banjo teachers. Hemstitchers and home dressmakers. Masseurs. Fat women and hatchet thin men. Cops are pleasantly good natured. Before almost every door a baby carriage.

Taxis waiting while drivers eat at home. Mothers trundling croupy babies to the gas-house. A man in a wheel chair shows a card: "I fell from a balloon." Pavement book stalls. From Alger to Dickens. For 15 cents. The gloom of twilight in every store.

The Fox film studios. A group of waiting extras. Two one-legged men, an Indian and a cowboy. Gold teeth. Brown derbies. A butter-milk shop: "Drink ten glasses and pay nothing." A Ceylon curry parlor and Hamburger steak stands.

Bleak, drooping figures in a Mills hotel lobby. Silver haired old men who sit motionless for hours. Philosopheres of disenchantment. A parrot store run by a Chinese. The eerie moan of a squeaky fiddle. Business of galloping back to the glitter.

It happened in the elegantly fitted office of a millionaire. The visitor accidentally upset a bottle of ink which splashed on a costly rug. He stood in a haze of bewildering embarrassment. The magnate smiled and said it was nothing and added contents of another inkwell to what had gone before. "Why did you do that?" he was asked later. He said the visitor's embarrassment was so overwhelming he was touched. And added with a sly twinkle: "Anyway the rug was ruined beyond hope."

Southerners visiting New York will especially deplore the closing of Miss Mary's on upper Central Park West. It was a boarding house that furnished the charm and hospitality of the old South and was about the last in the city to symbolize the fading canctuaries with their horse hide sofa, red plush parlor suite and buxom middle aged mistress. For many years the cheerful hearth of Miss Mary's has been the meeting place for Southerners. Miss Mary came from Georgia and passed on several years ago. A sister kept the house open, serving the fried chicken, waffles, biscuit and gravy that made the place famous Betty, the cook, Virginia, the head waitress, and Mary, the maid, returned to Dixie when the house closed. It flourished for more than sixteen years. There was a dangling brass bell at the door. Patrons were made acquainted and sat in the parlor afterward awhile to chat after dinner. Sometimes there was a song or a piano piece. Miss Mary wore rustling black silk to the last.

A darkey from Georgia followed his employer from the South to his office in Wall Street. Everything was done for the darkey's comfort to wean him from home. At the end of five days he announced he was going home. Pressed for a reason, he said: "I wants to git back wha' the sun shines on both sides of the street at the same time.'

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Famous Waterfall Gone.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11.—There is, perhaps, in the mind of every person in the United States that has attended grade school, a memory of the beating rhythm that drums through "Hiawatha." It is a meter borrowed from the ancient Norse, used by the unknown minstrels that fashioned "Beowulf," and taken by many Teutonic bards as a vehicle for their songs. It occurs and recurs in Ibsen's "Peer Gynt" and there are touches of it in Goethe.

It thrums its way into the mind, and, as it resembles the dum-dum of a tom-tom, its beats impress themselves with ease upon the listener. Likewise, it is peculiarly adaptable to the American's conception of Indian music, and, as it is used in "Hiawatha," it is particularly effective.

It usually fell to the lot of the children in the grade school rooms to listen to it in that interim between lessons and the close of the school day. And it usually was read in the fall, when the autumn sun sent long shadows through the tall windows and the barren trees looked forbidding and mysterious in the fading light.

Lessons over, the warm room seemed strangely comfortable and the juvenile bodies seemed to relax into dreamy quietude, inspired by the lengthening shadows and the far away aspect of outdoors. Then the teacher would reach to the line of books atop the desk, take from it a worn volume, open it and begin in a sort of droning, flowing tone, "By the shores of Gitche Gumee, By the shining Big-Sea Water," and immediately childish imaginations would begin to expand, and drift to the wigwam of Nokomis or the forest behind it.

Bur perhaps the most vivid memory of all memories of that epic is the one that encompasses "Minnehaha Laughing Water, handsomest of all the women." How he wooed her, how he won her, and brought her to the lodge of old Nokomis, is one of the brightest of all Hiawatha's deeds.

And it will probably cause the mental lips of those who remember that romance to quiver, when it is known tthat the Falls of Minnehaha, the Laughing Water of Minnesota and the old Dacotahs, are no more. The water falls no more like musical laughter; the falls have run dry.

Not a drop trickles over that historic ledge today. It ceased to flow for the first time in May of this year. It revived later, for a brief time, when early summer rains, stored in reservoirs, sent a thin veil of water falling over the brink, but it was a strange contrast to the lilting, musical cascade of other days. It merely murmured, while before it had spoken and laughed aloud. And the drought of summer finally brought this feeble effort to an end and the falls were silenced.

A Glacial Formation.

Minnehaha Falls are a glacial formation. They originally were part of the Mississippi river, according to eminent geologists, but under the wear of time the falls retreated, and the branch of them that remained in the river was called the Falls of St. Anthony. The other branch receded up Minnehaha creek, from which the falls were named.

Years ago the falls were the objective when all-day picnics were talked of. The people for miles around would drive to the glen, carrying baskets of good things to be eaten while the falls furnished the music with the meal. There was then a broad ledge running back underneath the cataract, and no picnic was a success until the party had gone behind the falls.

"Heet" Relieves Instantly

With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area, whether in knees, feet, legs, hands, shoulders, back, neck or body. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. Besides, "Heet" scatters the congestion and establishes a cure.

"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

Increase Your Weight In Thirty Days

Ask Mathews' Medicine Store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good healthy solid flesh and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, your druggist is authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Be sure and ask for McCoy's the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 Tablets—60 cents.

Claire Windsor Scores in "Denial" At the American

"The Denial," which opened at the American theatre yesterday, brings a story of unusualness, a background of great interest, and an atmosphere that is entirely new to the screen.

There is a prologue, an epilogue and a main story. The two former are laid in the present day period, while the latter is placed in that time just around the corner usually called "yesterday," but actually the year 1897. Two characters go through both periods, as the connecting links between the past and the present.

Roosevelt as Colonel.

Two enormous thrills are brought out in the appearance of a man impersonating Roosevelt. The actor looks so much like the Colonel that he creates a vivid impression of the leader as he really looked during the Spanish-American war. The other surprise is Claire Windsor as a middle-aged woman.

In the prologue we see Miss Windsor as a gray haired matron, the mother of a full-grown girl. In the main part of the story she is the heroine of 18. But it is the older role in which Miss Windsor definitely establishes herself as a great emotional actress. With every semblence of her real beauty torn from her, she has nothing to depend upon but real ability, and she attains the heights with great ease.

Proud Papas Put to Test.

Members of the American Legion at Enid, Okla., who are mostly bachelors have tired of having members arriving late at meetings ask indulgence of the other members because they had to put the baby to bed. The post had invited all "proud papas" in the habit of arriving late, to bring their offspring with them and demonstrate their skill as nursemaids, in order to get a meeting started on time. The idea is to make it a contest to ascertain who is the best trained father.

Think what it means to be everlastingly free from the dull, throbbing headaches, sallow skin and perpetual tiredness which are constipation's toll. But let Mrs. Bevis tell you her inspiring story:

Words can't express my gratitude for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. For 12 years I suffered with constipation, always taking medicine, had dull headaches and never felt well. For the past 12 months I've eaten ALL-BRAN and haven't taken one drop of medicine. I've gained in weight, my health is so improved I feel 10 years younger.
(Signed) Mrs. F. S. Bevis, Jacksonville, Florida.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will bring sure relief to you just as it has to Mrs. Bevis and thousands of others. It is a bulk food that doctors recommend. It is guaranteed to be permanently effective, if eaten regularly, or the purchase price will be returned by your grocer. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure relief.

Claire Windsor Scores in "Denial" At the American

"The Denial," which opened at the American theatre yesterday, brings a story of unusualness, a background of great interest, and an atmosphere that is entirely new to the screen.

There is a prologue, an epilogue and a main story. The two former are laid in the present day period, while the latter is placed in that time just around the corner usually called "yesterday," but actually the year 1897. Two characters go through both periods, as the connecting links between the past and the present.

Roosevelt as Colonel.

Two enormous thrills are brought out in the appearance of a man impersonating Roosevelt. The actor looks so much like the Colonel that he creates a vivid impression of the leader as he really looked during the Spanish-American war. The other surprise is Claire Windsor as a middle-aged woman.

In the prologue we see Miss Windsor as a gray haired matron, the mother of a full-grown girl. In the main part of the story she is the heroine of 18. But it is the older role in which Miss Windsor definitely establishes herself as a great emotional actress. With every semblence of her real beauty torn from her, she has nothing to depend upon but real ability, and she attains the heights with great ease.

Proud Papas Put to Test.

Members of the American Legion at Enid, Okla., who are mostly bachelors have tired of having members arriving late at meetings ask indulgence of the other members because they had to put the baby to bed. The post had invited all "proud papas" in the habit of arriving late, to bring their offspring with them and demonstrate their skill as nursemaids, in order to get a meeting started on time. The idea is to make it a contest to ascertain who is the best trained father.

BANDITS SEIZE LIQUOR CACHE

Flash Fake Badges, Make $50,000 Haul in Warehouse.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 11.—Two bandits, disguised as officers, flashed fake badges on watchmen and made off with 600 cases of confiscated liquor from the United States customs warehouse here today.

The liquor was valued at more than $50,000.

After gaining entrance to the warehouse, T. F. Hubbard, watchman in charge of the liquor, was bound and gagged, while the bandits leisurely loaded their loot.

Stepfather of Movie Star Faces Gallows For Double Murder

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11. — S. C. Stone, 60-year-old watchman, stepfather of Jack Hoxie, motion picture star, today faced death on the gallows following return by a jury of a verdict finding him guilty of the murder of May Martin, 12, and her sister, Nina, 8.

The two sisters disappeared from their home here August 23, 1924. And in February of this year their bodies were discovered in a shallow grave in the nearby hills.

A tiny rouge box, said to have belonged to one of the children, was found in Stone's room, the prosecution charged, after Stone was alleged to have kept the girls prisoner for several days.

two weeks, then went to Boston where she stayed at Healy's hotel, and finally returned to New York.

Her father, Edwin D. Wood, well-to-do lumber merchant, came here in person to get his daughter. He is a tall man with iron gray hair. He confronted his daughter in the office of the missing persons bureau and later left with her, presumably to take her home.

Margaret is tall, and inclined to be plump. Her father couldn't understand why she left home—she had everything she wanted. He had arranged to give her an automobile as a surprise gift for Christmas. He hadn't liked some of her boy friends who had visited her at their home.

Margaret managed to pay all her various hotel bills. She had sold some Liberty bonds before she left home. She told detectives she was glad she had the experience but she was disillusioned.

She is the third daughter of wealthy parents to disappear recently in New York, turning up after mysterious and unexplained absences. The first was Jacqueline Hobbs of Park avenue, and the second Mary McTiernan, daughter of a prominent New York doctor.

The "club murderer' has not been active for two weeks. While this morning's attack bore no resemblance to others, authorities are confident that it is the same man.

Police were taken off beats and special details and a city wide search for the man is in progress.

Ax Killer in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11.—Facing the probability of a degenerate ax killer running at large in Columbus today, police were baffled by conflicting stories and circumstances connected with an attack last night on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Berry which left the woman in a serious condition and, physicians said, probably will result in the death of Berry.

Remove Excise Tax On Fire Apparatus After Court Rules

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The treasury today removed the excise tax on fire apparatus.

Refunds will be given manufacturers who have paid the taxes since 1921.

A federal court in New York recently held the tax was illegal.

High fashion decrees that ladies from now on must get stockings that match their complexions.

There will be no trouble about that. Modern fashion makes it easy for a lady to change her complexion to match her stockings if she can't find exactly the silk stockings she wants.

We are able at making laws in this country—not so good obeying laws when the laws do not suit us.

In Indiana a merchant can be sent to jail for displaying or selling pocket flasks or cocktail shakers. That violates the "bone dry" law. In congress one Democrat, one Republican want the "Star Spangled Banner" made the official national anthem. Congressman Fairchild would send you to jail for five years for making any "criticism" of that respectable song with its words expressing our hatred of the British and its tune borrowed from a drinking song.

We used to laugh at German laws concerning lese majeste. The Germans would imprison you for insulting the kaiser. We would imprison you for criticizing a song.

The "Golden Goose," Red Grange, laying eggs of solid gold, is apparently to be killed as rapidly as possible. The manager who does his "thinking" evidently thinks it a good idea to get money "while the getting is good." Red Grange, made to play five days in the week, will soon be a worn-out man and stop drawing a big "gate."

However, he will probably get his million or as much as a "thinking" manager thinks he ought to have. All professional athletics include more or less "hippodroming" and "Red" might as well be worn out of the game as tricked out of it.

LaFollette to be Admitted to G. O. P. Standing in Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., will be admitted to full Republican standing in the senate, it was learned today, as a result of a compromise reached by administration leaders.

This peaceful solution of the new senate's first insurgent row, it was said, was agreed upon after Senator William M. Butler, R., of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and spokesman for President Coolidge, withdrew his opposition to La Follette. Butler was reported as willing to admit La Follette to the Republican ranks for the present but insisting upon his punishment if he bolts the party on any strictly partisan issues.

Truck License

nish a recorded bill of sale before license plates will be issued him.

Truck licenses as well as those for pleasure cars are being sold at reduced rates. The fee for trucks is based entirely upon weight and not upon engine horsepower and load capacity as was the plan last year.

The fee for the first 2,500 pounds which a truck weighs is 70 cents per hundred; for trucks over 2,500 pounds and up to 6,000 pounds, the rate is 90 cents per 100 pounds; for 6,000 pounds and up to 9,000 pounds, the rate is $1 per 100, while a rate of $1.15 is charged per 100 pounds over 9,000 pounds. The license fee for pleasure cars is $4, $6 and $10, one half of that charged last year, but the quarterly reduction plan is eliminated by the terms of the new bill.

Commissioner Hilbert also has a supply of plates for machines which are used jointly for pleasure and commercial purposes. Last year, these licenses were available only at the state license bureau in Columbus.

Commissioner Hilbert announced today that his office would be open tonight and tomorrow night and also Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week from 7 to 9 o'clock for the distribution of license plates.

City May Lease

Paying $65 Monthly.

The council chamber on the second floor of the city building will be abandoned, sessions of the legislators being held in the court room. The solons have tentatively agreed to move the offices of the city auditor and the city treasury to the old council room and place the water works department in the rooms now used by the auditor and treasurer.

By this arrangement a $40 rental which is now being paid by the city for the water works office on Fourth street and an additional $25 janitor salary would be saved. The city hall janitor would be employed to take care of both the city building and the court headquarters. This would means a saving of $65, making the new quarters cost the city but $10 per month more than what is now being paid out in rentals.

Mining Congress Endorses Stand of Anthracite Owners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The stand of the anthracite operators in their controversy with the miners was endorsed today in a resolution adopted by the American mining congress.

In supporting President Coolidge's recommendation for settling industrial disputes by arbitration, the resolution said:

"In order to terminate the present intolerable situation in the anthracite region, the operators have offered to submit all matters in controversy, without reservation, to arbitration."

Letter Shatters Two Homes; Ohioan Guilty of Bigamy

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11.—Thomas P. Seits' two homes were shattered and two women were heart broken today, all because a letter written by wife No. 1 fell into the hands of wife No. 2. Seits, when arraigned in police court this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. He was bound over to the grand jury.

Seits, a traveling salesman, maintained a home in Cincinnati for his first wife, whom he married at Bucyrus, O., in 1890. The second, whom he married in Michigan in 1915, had cozy quarters in Lancaster.

Seits' arrest was upon a warrant signed by the second Mrs. Seits.

hind the falls and negotiated the ledge to gaze out at a fantastic world that presented itself through the prismatic brilliance of the laughing water.

The glen was filled with the mist of the falls, and the sunlight filtering through it caused an ever-present rainbow to add to the beauty of the glade. Although it was surpassed in size and volume by many cataracts, there were few that had the meauty or the serenity, or the picturesque surroundings that marked Minnehaha.

It is peculiar that, although he impressed their beauty upon the nation through the thudding of matchless meter, Longfellow never saw the falls. He was, in fact, never near Minnesota, and he knew little about the surrounding country. There is an interesting explanation of this.

During the eighties, while there yet was a great deal of mystery surrounding the conception of "Hiawatha," an itinerant daguerreotype photographer wrote to a St. Paul newspaper. He explained how the poet obtained inspiration for the poem.

In his letter he told how he had once worked out of a little town in Illionis, taking views of the surrounding country. In 1851 his travels took him up to Minnesota, where he saw the falls and was impressed with their matchless beauty. In the following year—during the summer—he returned with a companion and spent some time at the site, where they took several views of the falls and the surrounding scenes. These they took back with them to Galena, which was the Illinois town in which they headquartered.

The photographer, Alex. Hesler, developed his pictures and gave several to a friend, George Sumner—brother of Charles Cumner—among them the picture of the falls, which Sumner greatly admired.

A Complimentary Copy.

In January, 1856, Hesler received a copy of "Hiawatha," with his name and the compliments of the author written on the fly left. He was puzzled, as he had never met Longfellow, and when Sumner, shortly afterward called at his studio, he brought up the subject.

The solution of the mystery was that Sumner, who was a neighbor of Longfellow's had returned to his home and showed him the view of the falls and the other pictures. Struck with the beauty of Minnenhaha, the poet selected it and retired to the woods, where the thought and poem of "Hiawatha" were conceived. Upon the completion of his work, he sent the autographed copy to Hesler, without explainting the facts in the case.

But now the falls have ceased to laugh and Minnehaha creek is a dry ravine. Just above them, now strangely desolate and lonely, stands the bronze statute of Hiawatha and Minnehaha. This was erected in commemoration of the epic that gave the spot its fame. The hero of the legend is shown with the timid Minnehaha in his arms, with her arms entwined about his neck. He is about to carry her across the creek to keep the swirling water from wetting her delicate moccasins. Her hair is falling about her shoulders, draped over his right arm, much as the falls draped their watery vail over the ledge, and she is gazing at the creek with assurance, inspired by his protection.

While the creek flowed and the falls laughed, this figure added immensely to the picturesqueness of the spot, but now before it is a dry creek bed filled with the forest's debris. The waters have ceased to surge in front of it and it stands pathetically alone in a maze of saplings and underbrush. And local wags have suggested that Minnehaha might as well release her arms from the neck of her lover and walk across by herself.

There is talk in Minneapolis of restoring the falls by the means of artesian wells, but it has not been considered seriously. But whether or not they are restored, the droning voice of the teacher will probably keep them alive in the minds of the children when the quiet afternoon of the day has descended on the school room and the sun's long shadows slither through the tall windows to stimulate juvenile imagination.

U. S. Marine Corps Doctor Kills Self; Wife Divorced Him

CINCINNATI, Dec. 11.—Samuel W. McEwan, aged 38, lieutenant-doctor attached to the local United States marine corps recruiting station, killed himself, police learned, in the Metropole hotel. Several letters left by the dead man indicate that McEwan committed the deed because his wife had divorced him, some months ago.

Asquith's Son May Enter Movies; Pays Visit to Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Anthony Asquith, son of the former British premier, may become a motion picture actor.

Young Asquith, making his first visit to Los Angeles, admitted today he was keenly interested in filmland and may attempt to become an actor or enter the production end of the screen business.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The industrial and specialty stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today. Most of the active stocks in these groups started the day at higher price levels, while occasional advances were recorded in the rails and oils. Pools specialties were brought to the front with heavy scale, buying at slightly higher prices. But price changes on the whole were narrow and offerings at the higher values were so liberal that the peak opening prices were shaded a point or more before the end of the first hour.

Forward movements in United States Distributing, General Asphalt, International Combustion Engineering, Foundation Company, Federal Light and Traction company, Bush Terminal and other of the active newcomers, were the principal features of the first hour of trading. The mercantile stocks were active and strong, as also were the public utility stocks. Montana Power sold up nearly two points; Brooklyn Union Gas, ex-dividend and ex-rights, sold at 89⅜, up 2⅛ points from the previous close, at 96, in response to announcement of the contemplated construction of a new record-beating gas plant.

AKRON, Dec. 11.—Earl Jones, 20, of Cuyahoga Falls, is under arrest today on a charge of stealing $4,260 from the C. H. Yeager company here, where he was employed as a clerk. He is said to have confessed to obtaining the money by sending credit bills to the cashier's desk reporting goods returned and then keeping the money himself. The names used on the slips were fictitious.

He had $11 left of his alleged plunderings when arrested. He had spent it on the rent of automobiles. He said he spent $60 in one week for cars.

the German system and is equipped with field guns and Mauser rifles. The forces are said to be well trained and disciplined and eager for action, after months of peace-time maneuvers. One of the army's weak points is the lack of heavy artillery, but military experts are of the opinion that war in Mosul would develop along lines requiring chiefly infantry action.

Turkey has no large air force, but a German airplane factory has recently been established at Eski-Chehir and is reported to be turning out scouting and bombing machines for the Turkish war department.

All of the war activity in Turkey is not limited to the army, as a well-planned campaign of propaganda has been outlined to create national sentiment in favor of an external war to establish Turkey's right to Mosul.

Evidence Shows Foreign Aircraft Concern Near Panama Canal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Documentary evidence, substantiating Col. William Mitchell's contention that foreign aircraft concerns have secured a foothold in Central America "within striking distance' of the Panama Canal, was produced at the court-martial of the flying colonel today.

War department records were introduced to show that a German-Austro concern is now engaged in commercial flying in Central America.

Col. Mitchell has charged that war department negligence and indifference enabled foreign interests to get a foothold near the canal.

After conferring with the Illinois flash, whose injured arm was well on the way to recovery after he arose from his first good night's sleep since his professional football team undertook its enervating schedule over a week ago, "Dutch" Sternaman, owner and manager of the Chicago Bears, gave this assurance today.

"'Red' is young and I don't want to send him in a game when it would endanger his health,' Sternaman said shortly before boarding a Pennsylvania train for Detroit. "But the boy's arm is recovering rapidly. There is no question but that he will play in tomorrow's game, if only for a few minutes.'

Hint Poison Plot In Sudden Death Of Police Officer

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—A post-mortem investigation will be held late today by order of Coroner Charles Henzler, into the mysterious death of Patrolman William Simmill, who died of a perplexing illness in a Toledo hospital this morning.

Preliminary examinations shows marks on Simmill's throat and Coroner Henzler is of the opinion that he was poisoned or strangled to death.

Phone, Auto, Power, Radio and Planes Business Assets

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 11.—The population of the United States increases between one and two per cent a year, while business activities increase three or four per cent a year, as a result of which the standards of living are constantly improving, according to W. S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in an address here today before the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association of America.

Gifford pointed out that 90 per cent of the business of manufacturing, mining, of utilities, railroads and banks today is done under corporation form, largely the result of the furnishing of modern business equipment, such as telephones, automobiles, electric light, radio, airplanes, etc.

AKRON, O., Dec. 11.—An unidentified gunman was riddled with bullets and killed today by B. and O. detectives, after the dead man and a companion assaulted and engaged in a duel with R. A. Dickerson, also a railroad officer.

Dickerson was struck on the head when he called out two men hiding in a box car. As he fell he drew his gun and started shooting and the strangers turning as they ran, returned the fire.

Dickerson called Detectives Piper, Hale and McCutcheon of the railway service, and all started the man hunt. They encountered the desperadoes emerging from a restaurant and the pistol battle commenced. One gunman was shot twhrough the heart after being wounded in many places. The other man escaped, though it is believed he was wounded.

Stepfather of Movie Star Faces Gallows For Double Murder

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11. — S. C. Stone, 60-year-old watchman, stepfather of Jack Hoxie, motion picture star, today faced death on the gallows following return by a jury of a verdict finding him guilty of the murder of May. Martin, 12, and her sister, Nina, 8.

The two sisters disappeared from their home here August 23, 1924. And in February of this year their bodies were discovered in a shallow grave in the nearby hills.

A tiny rouge box, said to have belonged to one of the children, was found in Stone's room, the prosecution charged, after Stone was alleged to have kept the girls prisoner for several days.

Her father, Edwin D. Wood, well-to-do lumber merchant, came here in person to get his daughter. He is a tall man with iron gray hair. He confronted his daughter in the office of the missing persons bureau and later left with her, presumably to take her home.

Margaret is tall, and inclined to be plump. Her father couldn't understand why she left home—she had everything she wanted. He had arranged to give her an automobile as a surprise gift for Christmas. He hadn't liked some of her boy friends who had visited her at their home.

Margaret managed to pay all her various hotel bills. She had sold some Liberty bonds before she left home. She told detectives she was glad she had the experience but she was disillusioned.

She is the third daughter of wealthy parents to disappear recently in New York, turning up after mysterious and unexplained absences. The first was Jacqueline Hobbs of Park avenue, and the second Mary McTiernan, daughter of a prominent New York doctor.

There will be no trouble about that. Modern fashion makes it easy for a lady to change her complexion to match her stockings if she can't find exactly the silk stockings she wants.

We are able at making laws in this country—not so good obeying laws when the laws do not suit us.

In Indiana a merchant can be sent to jail for displaying or selling pocket flasks or cocktail shakers. That violates the "bone dry" law. In congress one Democrat, one Republican want the "Star Spangled Banner" made the official national anthem. Congressman Fairchild would send you to jail for five years for making any "criticism" of that respectable song with its words expressing our hatred of the British and its tune borrowed from a drinking song.

We used to laugh at German laws concerning lese majeste. The Germans would imprison you for insulting the kaiser. We would imprison you for criticizing a song.

The "Golden Goose," Red Grange, laying eggs of solid gold, is apparently to be killed as rapidly as possible. The manager who does his "thinking" evidently thinks it a good idea to get money "while the getting is good." Red Grange, made to play five days in the week, will soon be a worn-out man and stop drawing a big "gate."

However, he will probably get his million or as much as a "thinking" manager thinks he ought to have. All professional athletics include more or less "hippodroming" and "Red" might as well be worn out of the game as tricked out of it.

LaFollette to be Admitted to G. O. P. Standing in Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., will be admitted to full Republican standing in the senate, it was learned today, as a result of a compromise reached by administration leaders.

This peaceful solution of the new senate's first insurgent row, it was said, was agreed upon after Senator William M. Butler, R., of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee and spokesman for President Coolidge, withdrew his opposition to La Follette. Butler was reported as willing to admit La Follette to the Republican ranks for the present but insisting upon his punishment if he bolts the party on any strictly partisan issues.

Truck License

nish a recorded bill of sale before license plates will be issued him.

Truck licenses as well as those for pleasure cars are being sold at reduced rates. The fee for trucks is based entirely upon weight and not upon engine horsepower and load capacity as was the plan last year.

The fee for the first 2,500 pounds which a truck weighs is 70 cents per hundred; for trucks over 2,500 pounds and up to 6,000 pounds, the rate is 90 cents per 100 pounds; for 6,000 pounds and up to 9,000 pounds, the rate is $1 per 100, while a rate of $1.15 is charged per 100 pounds over 9,000 pounds. The license fee for pleasure cars is $4, $6 and $10, one half of that charged last year, but the quarterly reduction plan is eliminated by the terms of the new bill.

Commissioner Hilbert also has a supply of plates for machines which are used jointly for pleasure and commercial purposes. Last year, these licenses were available only at the state license bureau in Columbus.

Commissioner Hilbert announced today that his office would be open tonight and tomorrow night and also Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week from 7 to 9 o'clock for the distribution of license plates.

The council chamber on the second floor of the city building will be abandoned, sessions of the legislators being held in the court room. The solons have tentatively agreed to move the offices of the city auditor and the city treasury to the old council room and place the water works department in the rooms now used by the auditor and treasurer.

By this arrangement a $40 rental which is now being paid by the city for the water works office on Fourth street and an additional $25 janitor salary would be saved. The city hall janitor would be employed to take care of both the city building and the court headquarters. This would means a saving of $65, making the new quarters cost the city but $10 per month more than what is now being paid out in rentals.

Haskin's Letter

hind the falls and negotiated the ledge to gaze out at a fantastic world that presented itself through the prismatic brilliance of the laughing water.

The glen was filled with the mist of the falls, and the sunlight filtering through it caused an ever-present rainbow to add to the beauty of the glade. Although it was surpassed in size and volume by many cataracts, there were few that had the meauty or the serenity, or the picturesque surroundings that marked Minnehaha.

It is peculiar that, although he impressed their beauty upon the nation through the thudding of matchless meter, Longfellow never saw the falls. He was, in fact, never near Minnesota, and he knew little about the surrounding country. There is an interesting explanation of this.

During the eighties, while there yet was a great deal of mystery surrounding the conception of "Hiawatha," an itinerant daguerreotype photographer wrote to a St. Paul newspaper. He explained how the poet obtained inspiration for the poem.

In his letter he told how he had once worked out of a little town in Illionis, taking views of the surrounding country. In 1851 his travels took him up to Minnesota, where he saw the falls and was impressed with their matchless beauty. In the following year—during the summer—he returned with a companion and spent some time at the site, where they took several views of the falls and the surrounding scenes. These they took back with them to Galena, which was the Illinois town in which they headquartered.

The photographer, Alex. Hesler, developed his pictures and gave several to a friend, George Sumner—brother of Charles Cumner—among them the picture of the falls, which Sumner greatly admired.

A Complimentary Copy.

In January, 1856, Hesler received a copy of "Hiawatha," with his name and the compliments of the author written on the fly left. He was puzzled, as he had never met Longfellow, and when Sumner, shortly afterward called at his studio, he brought up the subject.

The solution of the mystery was that Sumner, who was a neighbor of Longfellow's had returned to his home and showed him the view of the falls and the other pictures. Struck with the beauty of Minnenhaha, the poet selected it and retired to the woods, where the thought and poem of "Hiawatha" were conceived. Upon the completion of his work, he sent the autographed copy to Hesler, without explainting the facts in the case.

But now the falls have ceased to laugh and Minnehaha creek is a dry ravine. Just above them, now strangely desolate and lonely, stands the bronze statute of Hiawatha and Minnehaha. This was erected in commemoration of the epic that gave the spot its fame. The hero of the legend is shown with the timid Minnehaha in his arms, with her arms entwined about his neck. He is about to carry her across the creek to keep the swirling water from wetting her delicate moccasins. Her hair is falling about her shoulders, draped over his right arm, much as the falls draped their watery vail over the ledge, and she is gazing at the creek with assurance, inspired by his protection.

While the creek flowed and the falls laughed, this figure added immensely to the picturesqueness of the spot, but now before it is a dry creek bed filled with the forest's debris. The waters have ceased to surge in front of it and it stands pathetically alone in a maze of saplings and underbrush. And local wags have suggested that Minnehaha might as well release her arms from the neck of her lover and walk across by herself.

There is talk in Minneapolis of restoring the falls by the means of artesian wells, but it has not been considered seriously. But whether or not they are restored, the droning voice of the teacher will probably keep them alive in the minds of the children when the quiet afternoon of the day has descended on the school room and the sun's long shadows slither through the tall windows to stimulate juvenile imagination.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The industrial and specialty stocks displayed a buoyant tone in the early trading today. Most of the active stocks in these groups started the day at higher price levels, while occasional advances were recorded in the rails and oils. Pools specialties were brought to the front with heavy scale, buying at slightly higher prices. But price changes on the whole were narrow and offerings at the higher values were so liberal that the peak opening prices were shaded a point or more before the end of the first hour.

Forward movements in United States Distributing, General Asphalt, International Combustion Engineering, Foundation Company, Federal Light and Traction company, Bush Terminal and other of the active newcomers, were the principal features of the first hour of trading. The mercantile stocks were active and strong, as also were the public utility stocks. Montana Power sold up nearly two points; Brooklyn Union Gas, ex-dividend and ex-rights, sold at 89¾, up 2¾ points from the previous close, at 96, in response to announcement of the contemplated construction of a new record-beating gas plant.

AKRON, O., Dec. 11.—An unidentified gunman was riddled with bullets and killed today by B. and O. detectives, after the dead man and a companion assaulted and engaged in a duel with R. A. Dickerson, also a railroad officer.

Dickerson was struck on the head when he called out two men hiding in a box car. As he fell he drew his gun and started shooting and the strangers turning as they ran, returned the fire.

Dickerson called Detectives Piper, Hale and McCutcheon of the railway service, and all started the man hunt. They encountered the desperadoes emerging from a restaurant and the pistol battle commenced. One gunman was shot twhrough the heart after being wounded in many places. The other man escaped, though it is believed he was wounded.

BERLIN, Dec. 11.—Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparation, announced today that he is returning to the United States to make a detailed report on the Dawes plan to the United States government, and also to confer with vice-president Dawes.

"The Dawes plan has become the Bible of the German business world," Gilbert said, and he is highly gratified over the manner in which it is operating.

The plan announced yesterday by Secretary Mellon for solving the problem of returning German property, seized during the war, will substantially facilitate the functioning of the Dawes plan, Gilbert said.

Today the Eagles' lodge issued public thanks for the support given them in the campaign.

All Are Finger-Printed.

In Argentina there is a national finger-printing law, and as a result the 10,000,000 or more inhabitants are all recorded by this system. It is this regulation which makes Argentina the one country in the world, it is said, where one may not lose his or her identity.

Young Cleckner, son of Mrs. Esther Cleckner, of Commerce street, was severely burned over practically his entire body. He is now able to get out into the air and walk again and although he may have to undergo another operation, it is possible that he will get well.

As a result of a campaign put on by the Wellsville lodge of Eagles, funds were obtained with which to defray, partially at least, the boy's hospital and medical expenses. A small sum remaining has ben placed on deposit for the lad in a local bank.

Today the Eagles' lodge issued public thanks for the support given them in the campaign.

Grange's Quarter-Million Dollar Grid Campaign Is Halted

Red Rover Is Checked By Badly Injured Arm

By Ford Frick.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—The fighting spirit of Red Grange finally succumbed to the wounded pleadings of tired, battered flesh here yesterday afternoon, and today, for the first time since he turned "Pro," injuries forced him to abandon a portion of the campaign that was to net him a quarter of a million dollars in gate receipts.

His left arm, battered from constant pounding, received its final torturing wrench during the game with the Pittsburgh All-Stars and Dr. Gustaf Berg, physician for the Pittsburgh baseball club, immediately voted Grange out of the picture as far as the immediate contests on the schedule of the Chicago Bears were concerned.

"All Shot for Awhile."

This means that Grange will not be able to play in Detroit and probably be unable to appear in Chicago, either. His arm is badly bruised and a ruptured blood vessel is causing hemorrhages.

"Well, I guess I'm all shot for a while," Grange remarked as he was helped into his clothes after leaving the field. And that was all. The Bears were defeated, 24 to 0.

Crowds Jeer Grange.

The most famous figure in football was led from the field amid the jeers of a heartless crowd that failed to appreciate the agonies which Grange was suffering or the fighting spirit of the man who had played for three successive days on nerve alone.

The arm, injured originally in the New York game on Sunday and never given an opportunity to heal, was re-injured at the very end of the first quarter yesterday when Grange attempted to block out a tackler for Johnny Mohardt, who had intercepted a Pittsburgh pass. As Grange got his man, another Pitt player hit the red head and he fell heavily—landing with his full weight on the injured and aching arm.

Shouldn't Have Played.

For a few moments he writhed in agony and then, game to the core, arose to his feet and attempted a few more plays. But the gamest spirit can't continue forever—and Grange had to leave.

And the crowd booed. That was the unkindest cut of all.

As a matter of fact, Grange should never have played in that game at all. The week of strenuous travel and play, coupled with complete exhaustion from the attentions of curious multitudes who hounded his footsteps and denied him every opportunity for peace and quiet, left him tired and worn. Mental exhaustion was added to the agonies of physical streess and strain.

A French inventor and maker of a partly-formed tie wire for line conductors plans to offer it in America.

POWERS TO CLASH WITH MOTOR FIVE

The Power basketball team will tangle with the Lisbon Dodge Motors on Monday night on the Odd Fellows' court.

The Powers have won six straight games this season and have yet to meet a reverse.

The Lisbon quint will boast a number of well known ex-high performers and former collegians.

The Powers will open the season for the Miller Brothers team at Columbiana on Monday, Dec. 21, and the Millers will play a return game here later. Teams in Canton, Youngstown, Wheeling and the Pittsburgh district are also on the Power schedule.

Lisbon ex-high girls and a local sextet will play a preliminary to the game with the Dodge Motors Monday.

26 Elis Get Letters

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 11.—Twenty-six members of the 1925 Yale football team have been awarded letters. Thirty-six Freshmen and 32 Sophomores receives numerals for their year's play.

Gershe-Shea Matched

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Benny Gershe, the slugging Jewish feather, will help to feature the next major fight on Dec. 18, at public hall. The other half of the scrap will be furnished by Eddie Shea.

DOESN'T FAVOR BIG TEN PLAN

STEUBENVILLE, Dec. 11.—C. Q. Cartledge, Steubenville, high school coach, does not favor the proposed formation of a "Big Ten" conference of Ohio high schools for athletic competition.

Although Steubenville high has not lost a game in four years Coach Cartledge does not believe a high school can "hold its own year after year," and that therefore a conference plan might not be feasible.

"If a high school conference is to be permanently successful it should be made of schools that are practically the same size," Cartledge asserts.

BUCKEYE JUNIORS WANT CAGE GAMES

No Snap For Hawkeyes

Iowa's 1926 conference football schedule is a strong one. Michigan and Northwestern, two of the most powerful teams of 1925, will be met at home, while Illinois, Ohio State and Wisconsin will entertain the Hawkeyes on their own fields.

Plan Southern Jaunt

BOOMINGTON, Ind., Dec. 11.—The University of Indiana's baseball team will make a southern training trip during the spring vacation. Games have already been carded with Vanderbilt, Oglethorpe and the University of Tennessee.

LaBarba Enroute East

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—Fidel LaBarba, champion flyweight, has left for New York where he will meet Joe Lazarus on Dec. 23, at Rickard's garden. He will meet Clever Seicio, Filipino, on Jan. 20, back in Los Angeles.

Critchfield Captain

WOOSTER, Dec. 11.—Henry "Hank" Critchfield, center of the Wooster college football team for the last two seasons has been elected captain of the Wooster grid team for 1926. He is the son of Judge Lyman Critchfield, of Wooster, and played four years at center for Wooster high before entering Wooster college.

STARS PICKED BY LEETONIAN

R. E. Whinnery Selects All-County Grid Teams.

R. E. Whinnery, principal of North Side high school, Leetonia, selects All-County first, second and third high school football teams, placing four East Liverpool players, three Leetonians, three Salem stars, and two Lisbon performers on the first team.

Whinnery says: "There will no doubt be objections to placing three Leetonia men on the first team, since Leetonia lost its game with Salem. As every person is aware, however, a good team meets reverses, which, it seems, it is unable to overcome in a game.

Leetonia School Head's Selections

Perry, E. L.	LE.	Garwood, L.
Ginther, L.	LG.	Sheen, S.

Coffee, S.	LH.	Reible, E. L.
P. English, E.L.	RH.	Pignatore, W.

Third team—E. English, E. L.; Hanes, E. L.; Cook, E. P.; Clark, E. P.; Crook, Lis.; Miller, S.; Jenkins, S.; Nicolette, Lis.; Campbell, W.; Dolan, E. P.; Stephens, E. P.

"The football chart of the Salem-Leetonia game shows that Leetonia made nine downs to Salem's five. Furthermore, Leetonia gained nearly twice as much yardage as Salem, but lacked punch at the proper time.

"In selection of ends, Perry and Cosgrove have been chosen because both men were fine defensive ends, in addition to having ability to retrieve forward passes and both have fine analytical power.

"Older and Beltempo were selected as the two leading tackles. Both are exceptionally strong. In defensive ability they were towers of their respective teams.

"Ginther and Banks are named at guards. They never failed to produce openings in the line when a few yards were needed by their team. These men were what one would call knifing guards, breaking through the line of scrimmage in time to stop the opposing backfield. Such men are rare and are of utmost value to a coach.

Larkins was selected as center since he was a man to be depended upon when making passes under difficult situations. This fact alone places him ahead of Fisher, of Salem, who may have had the edge on defense, but who was uncertain when passing the ball under extreme stress.

"Cornelli, of Lisbon, was an ideal football general, being very good to pick weak places in the opposing line. In addition, he was a triple threat man, having no one in the county as a near competitor.

English and Coffee were selected as the halves, the former being an ideal type of plunging half, and in addition the possessor of an ability to use the forward pass effectively. Coffee was picked only for his ability as a speeder. He was in no way an open field runner, as he lacked change of pace, which is essential for a broken field runner. On defense Coffee is a very poor man but this fault can be overlooked when considering his offensive ability.

"R. Price, although a Freshman, had no equal in backing up the line of scrimmage. He could be depended upon to stop most any play through the forwards, in addition to covering the ends when needed. He was a man who could always be depended upon to gain from one to two yards in case of necessity. His line plunges for the year averaged better than two and one-half yards per down, a fact which speaks for itself.

20,000 Fans to See Berlenbach-Delaney

Battle for Light Heavyweight Title Will Officially Inaugurate Tex Rickard's New Madison Square Garden; Berlenbach Favorite.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—It will be left hand against right, champion gainst challenger, slugger against slugging boxer, and a quarter of a million dollar gate against the probability that one of the greatest fights of recent years will transpire when Paul Berlenbach and Jack Delaney meet tonight for the world's light heavyweight title. More than 20,000 of the populace will view the proceedings, which will officially inaugurate the manly art of legalized assault at Tex Rickard's new Madison Square Garden.

More people and more money than ever graced an indoor fight in America will be present, the former in upholstered seats and the latter in the box office. Jack Dempsey and Bill Brennan, Jess Willard and Frank Moran and Benney Leonard and Richie Mitchell played to less money than will Berlenbach and Delaney tonight and, perhaps, deservedly so.

There was no title at stake on this occasion. In fact, tonight will witness Delaney's premiere in championship circles, the Bridgeport entry losing several title shots through illness.

Only recently did he recover from a serious attack of blood poisoning and this has prompted the boys to make Berlenbach a favorite at odds of 7 to 5.

However, all bets are being made on the basis of a knockout before the end of the scheduled 15 rounds.

Delaney is the better boxer, by many a last, long mile, and also the cleaner hitter, but is far from punch-proof. He once was stopped by Augie Ratner, and Augie can hit with all the venom of a dust cloth.

In brief, the thing should be very brief, as it were.

Only One Passed Ball

According to American league averages recently published, Catcher "Muddy" Ruel, of Washington, had only one passed ball last season, and played in 126 games, ranking next to Cochrane, of the Atheletics, in number of contests.

Grange's Quarter-Million Dollar Grid Campaign Is Halted

Red Rover Is Checked By Badly Injured Arm

By Ford Frick.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 11.—The fighting spirit of Red Grange finally succumbed to the wounded pleadings of tired, battered flesh here yesterday afternoon, and today, for the first time since he turned "Pro," injuries forced him to abandon a portion of the campaign that was to net him a quarter of a million dollars in gate receipts.

His left arm, battered from constant pounding, received its final torturing wrench during the game with the Pittsburgh All-Stars and Dr. Gustaf Berg, physician for the Pittsburgh baseball club, immediately voted Grange out of the picture as far as the immediate contests on the schedule of the Chicago Bears were concerned.

"All Shot for Awhile."

This means that Grange will not be able to play in Detroit and probably be unable to appear in Chicago, either. His arm is badly bruised and a ruptured blood vessel is causing hemorrhages.

"Well, I guess I'm all shot for a while," Grange remarked as he was helped into his clothes after leaving the field. And that was all. The Bears were defeated, 24 to 0.

Crowds Jeer Grange.

The most famous figure in football was led from the field amid the jeers of a heartless crowd that failed to appreciate the agonies which Grange was suffering or the fighting spirit of the man who had played for three successive days on nerve alone.

The arm, injured originally in the New York game on Sunday and never given an opportunity to heal, was re-injured at the very end of the first quarter yesterday when Grange attempted to block out a tackler for Johnny Mohardt, who had intercepted a Pittsburgh pass. As Grange got his man, another Pitt player hit the red head and he fell heavily—landing with his full weight on the injured and aching arm.

Shouldn't Have Played.

For a few moments he writhed in agony and then, game to the core, arose to his feet and attempted a few more plays. But the gamest spirit can't continue forever—and Grange had to leave.

And the crowd booed. That was the unkindest cut of all.

As a matter of fact, Grange should never have played in that game at all. The week of strenuous travel and play, coupled with complete exhaustion from the attentions of curious multitudes who hounded his footsteps and denied him every opportunity for peace and quiet, left him tired and worn. Mental exhaustion was added to the agonies of physical stress and strain.

A French inventor and maker of a partly-formed tie wire for line conductors plans to offer it in America.

Lisbon ex-high girls and a local sextet will play a preliminary to the game with the Dodge Motors Monday.

Gershe-Shea Matched

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11.—Benny Gershe, the slugging Jewish feather, will help to feature the next major fight on Dec. 18, at public hall. The other half of the scrap will be furnished by Eddie Shea.

DOESN'T FAVOR BIG TEN PLAN

STEUBENVILLE, Dec. 11.—C. Q. Cartledge, Steubenville, high school coach, does not favor the proposed formation of a "Big Ten" conference of Ohio high schools for athletic competition.

Although Steubenville high has not lost a game in four years Coach Cartledge does not believe a high school can "hold its own year after year," and that therefore a conference plan might not be feasible.

"If a high school conference is to be permanently successful it should be made of schools that are practically the same size," Cartledge asserts.

BUCKEYE JUNIORS WANT CAGE GAMES

STARS PICKED BY LEETONIAN

R. E. Whinnery Selects All-County Grid Teams.

R. E. Whinnery, principal of North Side high school, Leetonia, selects All-County first, second and third high school football teams, placing four East Liverpool players, three Leetonians, three Salem stars, and two Lisbon performers on the first team.

Whinnery says: "There will no doubt be objections to placing three Leetonia men on the first team, since Leetonia lost its game with Salem. As every person is aware, however, a good team meets reverses, which, it seems, it is unable to overcome in a game.

The last link, the laying of the concrete floor in the Gauley bridge, was completed Wednesday. One or two other open places were finished on Tuesday.

It will be three weeks or more before the concrete will set in the floor of Gauley bridge, it was said at the state road commission today. The entire trail is expected to be open for travel by January 1.

YULE TREES ON SIDEWALKS

Decorated Spruce Will be Placed in Front of Stores.

Clarence E. West today began erecting Christmas trees in the downtown business district.

West has orders for more than 150 trees which are to adorn the sidewalks of the business district during the holiday season. The trees, for the most part are being erected by using the flag pole socks in the curbstone.

Many merchants have arranged to decorate their trees with Christmas trimmings, while others will used electric light sets.

West expects to complete his work of installing the trees this week. The trees will stand until after the first of the year. The plan is sponsored by the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce.

A large Community Christmas tree is to be erected in the Diamond by West, co-operating with East Liverpool Post, No. 4, American Legion.

"Specks" Now Match Frocks.

Parisan women have adopted American hornrimmed glasses, but they have made them a part of their general attire, by adopting rims made from colored celluloid to match their various dresses. A vogue for the "specks" has set in so that many women own several pairs of the glasses, each with a different colored rim. The glass used by the women who do not need spectacles, is ordinary window glass. Some dealers are selling as high as 100 pairs of the "specks" a day.

"Gadzooks" Indian Oath.

A. Hyatt Verill, a collector for the Museum of American Indians, has discovered that "Gadzooks" supposedly an oath of the good old Elizabethen days in England, is used commonly by the Panama Indians. The reason is that the oath was carried to the tribe by the English expedition known as Bartholomew Sharp's bucanneers, in 1660. This expedition left also a number of other English words that have been appropriated and corrupted by the Panama tribes which came into contact with the newcomers at the time.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

WARNING GIVEN ON LAND DEALS

Better Business Bureau Refers to Florida Investments

International Lloyds, a Chicago real estate organization, which is said to have issued insurance policies on Florida real estate, known as the "Glendale Estates," has no connection with the world known insurance agency of Lloyds, of London, the National Better Business Bureau says in a circular received by the Chamber of Commerce, warning against Florida real estate investments.

According to the circular, the International Investment company of Miami, Florida, recently offered lots for sale, which guaranteed the purchaser a minimum profit of 50 per cent within five years. The advertisement stated that International Lloyds had written policies on each of the 5,129 acres in the allotment and that the investment was a sure money maker.

An investigation by the Better Business Bureau disclosed International Lloyds to be located on a second floor tenant at 219 North Michigan avenue, Chicago and that it had no connection whatever with the London company.

The Cook county court at Chicago has granted an order restraining International Lloyds from issuing any forms of insurance except those provided by their license which prohibits real estate insurance. Less than a month ago a receiver was appointed for the company, which is now declared bankrupt.

STRENGTH-SAVING

Nowadays nearly everyone is impressed with the health-building and strength-saving merit of

of invigorating cod-liver oil. Millions of bottles are sold every year. A very little used regularly daily builds health and helps keep the body in strength.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 25-21

Being the first offered to the public through the grocery trade, and officially approved by health authorities, the use of MULKEY'S IODINE SALT has been generally adopted for the Prevention of Goiter in sections of the country were this malady is prevalent among school children. WARNING GIVEN ON LAND DEALS

Better Business Bureau Refers to Florida Investments

International Lloyds, a Chicago real estate organization, which is said to have issued insurance policies on Florida real estate, known as the "Glendale Estates," has no connection with the world known insurance agency of Lloyds, of London, the National Better Business Bureau says in a circular received by the Chamber of Commerce, warning against Florida real estate investments.

According to the circular, the International Investment company of Miami, Florida, recently offered lots for sale, which guaranteed the purchaser a minimum profit of 50 per cent within five years. The advertisement stated that International Lloyds had written policies on each of the 5,129 acres in the allotment and that the investment was a sure money maker.

An investigation by the Better Business Bureau disclosed International Lloyds to be located on a second floor tenant at 219 North Michigan avenue, Chicago and that it had no connection whatever with the London company.

The Cook county court at Chicago has granted an order restraining International Lloyds from issuing any forms of insurance except those provided by their license which prohibits real estate insurance. Less than a month ago a receiver was appointed for the company, which is now declared bankrupt.

STRENGTH-SAVING

Nowadays nearly everyone is impressed with the health-building and strength-saving merit of

of invigorating cod-liver oil. Millions of bottles are sold every year. A very little used regularly daily builds health and helps keep the body in strength.

New Castle Potter, Arrested Here, is Given Jail Term

Edward Schleffler, New Castle potter, who was arrested here about two weeks ago, at the request of Lawrence county authorities, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail upon a charge of grand larceny, Mayor Charles Brown was notified today.

Scheffler, who was formely employed at the Shenango pottery, is alleged to have taken a pay check for $65, belonging to a fellow employe, and cashed it. He was charged with a liquor violation when picked here, but this charge was not pressed when he agreed to return to Pennsylvania.

The traffic value of Argentine imports each month is now exceeding the monthly value in 1913, the record ear.

English Mint Finest.

Although the United States mint is up-to-date in machinery and well equipped otherwise, it is said not to rank with the British mint on Tower Hill, London, for fine workmanship. Many coins for other countries are made there because of its fine workmanship. It turns out copper coins at a great speed and as many as seven million silver coins, requiring greater skill, are turned out in a week. The designs from this mint are said to stand out more clearly than those from any other mint in the world.

But—the average farm hen lays seventy-two eggs a year. Fed Tuxedo the year 'round she will lay around 150 eggs. Many lay 175 to 200 eggs. With eggs selling at 3 cents each average yearly, the hen has to lay only one extra egg a month to pay the extra feed cost. The remaining sixty-six eggs are clear profit.

New Castle Potter, Arrested Here, is Given Jail Term

Edward Schleffler, New Castle potter, who was arrested here about two weeks ago, at the request of Lawrence county authorities, has been sentenced to 90 days in jail upon a charge of grand larceny, Mayor Charles Brown was notified today.

Scheffler, who was formely employed at the Shenango pottery, is alleged to have taken a pay check for $65, belonging to a fellow employe, and cashed it. He was charged with a liquor violation when picked here, but this charge was not pressed when he agreed to return to Pennsylvania.

The traffic value of Argentine imports each month is now exceeding the monthly value in 1913, the record ear.

English Mint Finest.

Although the United States mint is up-to-date in machinery and well equipped otherwise, it is said not to rank with the British mint on Tower Hill, London, for fine workmanship. Many coins for other countries are made there because of its fine workmanship. It turns out copper coins at a great speed and as many as seven million silver coins, requiring greater skill, are turned out in a week. The designs from this mint are said to stand out more clearly than those from any other mint in the world.

It may cost 50c more per bag to feed Tuxedo Eggmash and Scratch than it does to feed Straight grains or home-mixed rations, or thirty-five cents extra per hen per year.

But—the average farm hen lays seventy-two eggs a year. Fed Tuxedo the year 'round she will lay around 150 eggs. Many lay 175 to 200 eggs. With eggs selling at 3 cents each average yearly, the hen has to lay only one extra egg a month to pay the extra feed cost. The remaining sixty-six eggs are clear profit.

$4,407 GAS TAX IS PAID CITY

Second Check Sent to Auditor W. M. McGraw.

A second installment of $4,407 from the state gasoline tax receipts has been received by City Auditor William M. McGraw. This is the settlement for the three-month period ending Nov. 31.

This money is to be used in street maintenance and repair just as the auto license fund is, but it is to be kept separate from the license collections. City council must enact legislation transferring money from the gasoline tax fund to the street repair fund when the money is needed for street repairs or improvements.

County Auditor C. E. Hamilton has made his final settlement with and village officials of money collected through the sale of license plates. Licenses for the remainder of the present year are issued only through the head offices at Columbus and not by the deputy commissioners.

The final settlement of $291.18 was distributed as follows: East Liverpool, $120; Salem, $56; Wellsville, $56; East Palestinee, $19.18; Columbiana, $12; Lisbon, $8; Washingtonville, $8; Leetonia, $4; New Waterford, $4, and Salineville, 4.

Mobilizes "Army" For Extras in Film, "Winds of Chance"

There is no shortage of people willing to become part of movie "mobs" either in Hollywood or in New York or other big cities in which motion picture companies operate. But when a company goes on location to an out of the way location the obtaining of character extras becomes much the same problem as the mobilization of an army in an emergency.

When Frank Lloyd was filming scenes for "Winds of Chance" which comes to the American theatre Monday, in the high Sierras 700 character extras were required. The nearest town could supply no more than 200 men and women, hence it became necessary to send to Sacramento, Cal., which at the time had a large number of unemployed miners, lumberjacks and river men. More than 500 men were sent from Sacramento to the location on a special train of fourteen Pullmans and four diners, leaving Sacramento at midnight and arriving at location next morning and made up before the sun reached a point that would make shadows of pedestrians and buildings run contrary to the natural tendency of the time of day to be reproduced in accordance with the story's demands.

Healthiest Girl "Roughs It," Bans Fags and Rouge

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — The healthiest girl of the 1,000 attending Barnard college is dainty, twenty year old bobbed-haired Elizabeth Metzger. A special healthy week committee so decided.

Miss Metzer "roughs it" in camp every summer. She doesn't smoke. She doesn't use rouge or lipstick, although she does powder. She never has worn corsets but wears high French heels. She is a lover of outdoor sports.

Love Marriages Menace.

Chinese officials have discovered that Chinese maidens marrying for affection only after the manner of the Occidental sisters, are upsetting the established social order in China and fear some is blamed for some of the modern tendencies there. Marriages in the old days were not predicated on the mutual exchange of affection nearly so much as now. The educational authorities have had to issue edicts to check the Western trend of dress among the Chinese girls.

Lamb Great Friend Maker.

Charles Lamb whose letters have always been the delight of the lovers of fine reading had a great faculty for friendship. Few men have been able to maintain such diverse relations throughout a whole life, to satisfy the demands of so many warring egotisms and reap such a harvest of affection. Not all his friendships were productive of unmitigated good to him however. His social spirit was often in conflict with the more serious needs of life.

Matterhorn Wasting Away.

The Matterhorn, the famous mountain in Switzerland, is slowly wasting away. On an average day in thawing weather, hundreds of tons of fine dirt, clay and rocks, slide down the mountain side. On some occasions thousands of tons of dirt slide in a day.

Mobilizes "Army" For Extras in Film, "Winds of Chance"

There is no shortage of people willing to become part of movie "mobs" either in Hollywood or in New York or other big cities in which motion picture companies operate. But when a company goes on location to an out of the way location the obtaining of character extras becomes much the same problem as the mobilization of an army in an emergency.

When Frank Lloyd was filming scenes for "Winds of Chance" which comes to the American theatre Monday, in the high Glerras 700 character extras were required. The nearest town could supply no more than 200 men and women, hence it became necessary to send to Sacramento, Cal., which at the time had a large number of unemployed miners, lumberjacks and river men. More than 500 men were sent from Sacramento to the location on a special train of fourteen Pullmans and four diners, leaving Sacramento at midnight and arriving at location next morning and made up before the sun reached a point that would make shadows of pedestrians and buildings run contrary to the natural tendency of the time of day to be reproduced in accordance with the story's demands.

Healthiest Girl "Roughs It," Bans Fags and Rouge

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. — The healthiest girl of the 1,000 attending Barnard college is dainty, twenty year old bobbed-haired Elizabeth Metzger. A special healthy week committee so decided.

Miss Metzer "roughs it' in camp every summer. She doesn't smoke. She doesn't use rouge or lipstick, although she does powder. She never has worn corsets but wears high French heels. She is a lover of outdoor sports.

Love Marriages Menace.

Chinese officials have discovered that Chinese maidens marrying for affection only after the manner of the Occidental sisters, are upsetting the established social order in China and fear some is blamed for some of the modern tendencies there. Marriages in the old days were not predicated on the mutual exchange of affection nearly so much as now. The educational authorities have had to issue edicts to check the Western trend of dress among the Chinese girls.

Lamb Great Friend Maker.

Charles Lamb whose letters have always been the delight of the lovers of fine reading had a great faculty for friendship. Few men have been able to maintain such diverse relations throughout a whole life, to satisfy the demands of so many warring egotisms and reap such a harvest of affection. Not all his friendships were productive of unmitigated good to him however. His social spirit was often in conflict with the more serious needs of life.

Matterhorn Wasting Away.

The Matterhorn, the famous mountain in Switzerland, is slowly wasting away. On an average day in thawing weather, hundreds of tons of fine dirt, clay and rocks, slide down the mountain side. On some occasions thousands of tons of dirt slide in a day.

Fortune Missed by Inches.

For twenty-five years a prospector in British Columbia endeavored to locate a vein of silver lead ore near Beaverdell in the southeastern part of the province. He finally gave it up, and recently Roy Clothier and his companions, of Victoria succeeded in locating the vein on the Revenge claim. Clothier says they found the rich vein within a few inches of the series of old pits which the original owner had dug in his prospectings.

MIDLAND ROAD TO BE OPENED

Contractors Filling up Approaches to Bridge at Smith's Ferry.

That part of the Midland-East Liverpool road between Smiths Ferry and the state line probably will be open to traffic during the early part of next week.

Rinehart Brothers, local road building contractors, are now filling the approaches to the new concrete and steel span across Beaver creek and this work, in all probability, will be completed within a few days. The fills are to be ashed with material hauled from the Midland mills in order to permit the use of this part of the road during the winter and spring.

Because of adverse weather conditions, existing during October and November, the contractors were handicapped. The road between Smiths Ferry and the state line was completed several weeks ago, while the Ferris Engineering company finished the bridge across the creek more than a month ago.

The state highway department is now ashing that section of the road between Midland and the upper end of Smiths Ferry. As soon as this work is completed, the highway will be opened to travel. Concrete was poured to a point about 500 feet west of the Smiths Ferry station when bad weather halted operations.

The Pennsylvania state highway department will grade and surface the road from the upper end of Smiths Ferry to the westerly end of the borough next year, which will complete the highway from the state line into Beaver. This section of the road was not included in the job awarded to Rinehart Brothers last summer but will be done under a separate contract.

Class Meting Held.

LOCAL LODGEMEN TO VISIT TORONTO

Large delegation of local Odd Fellows plan to visit Toronto Sunday when the lodge will have charge of the laying of the corner stone of the new high school building at place. George M. Heffner, of New Vienna, grand master of Ohio, and Grand Secretary H. D. Chaffin of Columbus with other grand lodge officers will be present and take part in the ceremonies. Members of lodges in all sections of the tri-state district will be present.

Many Indictments.

Beaver county grand jury in session this week at Beaver has returned a large number of true bills including two charging murder. Majority of cases on the calendar were those in which the parties were accused of violating the prohibition laws.

To Give Cantatas.

Plans for the annual Christmas entertainments will be announced in the churches of this section at the services Sunday. Those who will take part will begin rehearsals next week. Several of the churches will present cantatas which will be given by members of the respective choirs.

Scouts Meeting.

Members of the East End Boy Scout troop will meef this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. The Girl Scouts met last night in the church.

Odd Fellows Meet.

Regular meeting of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F. was held last evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Plants were made for installation of new officers at the first meeting in January.

Paris jewelers are so incensed by attempts to steal their designs that they are demanding a law to make the practice a punishable offense.

Part of Heart Named for Man.

Dr. George Bachmann, professor of physiology at the school of medicine of Emory university, has been honored by having a part of the human heart named after him, because of his physiological research work. This part of the heart is now known in scientific circles as the "faisceau de Bachmann" or the "bundle" of Bachmann. Dr. Bachmann, in an article, "the Inter-Auricular Interval," published in the American Journal of Physiology in 1916, explained the function of the bundle leading from the sinus node to the left auricle. THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

TWENTY-ONE.

Laurel blanched, fearful that Marion might have heard her ultimatum to Wyman Holt.

Marion was fumbling at the lone button on her coat and furtively eyeing the visitor. She knew very well that Wyman was a former suitor of Laurel, and that there had been talk that Laurel broke an engagement to him to marry Noble Harwood.

"Is there a dance at the country club this evening?" Laurel asked with a certain nonchalance.

Marion answered: "Um-hum," still working with the button.

"Perhaps I can help you, Marion," Laurel suggested, going to her side.

"No, I have it now." Marion moved toward Wyman.

"I suppose you are going to the dance there," Laurel intimated.

Marion did not offer to reply. "Yes" said Wyman.

"Mr. Harwood is returning shortly, and we may follow you out there."

Marion shot a glance at her escort. From the corner of his eye he detected it, and turned his gaze from Laurel to her. "Perhaps we shall see you then," he said.

Laurel watched them go with relief, and slumped down into a chair to stare into the flames shooting up in the fireplace.

Marion was silent as she allowed Wyman Holt to assist her into his roadster. For just a second before he released her arm, they looked into each other's eyes. Then Wyman left her to go around the back of the car and get in on the other side. "Beautiful night, isn't it?" he said, a little thickly.

As the car gained momentum in rolling down the Harwood driveway, Marion spoke up without looking at her companion: "Let's not go to that old dance. I'd rather go to a movie. Ronald Colman is down at the Orpheum."

"That ham! The picture isn't any good. Let's go to the dance."

"Just for a little while."

"Wyman Holt, if you insist on going to that dance you can just take me back home!"

"Excuse me, Marion. I just thought you wanted to be persuaded, as usual."

"What do you mean?"

"Oh, nothing." He lifted one hand from the wheel to give one of hers a pat.

When Noble Harwood returned to his mansion two hours later he found Laurel nodding over a book in the library before the fireplace from which emanated a soft, ruddy glow that made her hair sparkle with gold. For a moment he stood in the doorway watching her, then he tiptoed to her side. "BOO!"

"Oh! . . . Oh, how you scared me!" She looked toward the great clock tick-tocking between the windows. "I didn't expect you to return so soon."

"I hurried away so we could go out. There's a dance at the country club."

"It's some private affair, isn't it? I don't remember receiving invitations."

Noble smiled lightly. "They didn't know WE would be in town or they would have sent some. We will never need invitations." He spoke in an arrogant, self-confident manner, as if to say: "We'll make the affair a success."

Laurel got up reluctantly. "I don't know whether I want to go." She was thinking that Wyman Holt would be there—with Marion.

"Oh, come on! We won't stay long."

She still hesitated.

"Is it the book you don't want to leave? What is it?" he picked it up and regarded the title, "The Three Musketeers." "Oh, you like that? I do, too. But, come on, we can read it together some time."

Laurel played nervously with her fingers while waiting for Della to bring her wrap, and couldn't help being startled when Noble bent over her suddenly and kissed her lightly upon her neck.

"How sweet you are!" he said, taking her hands. He didn't notice that she shivered ever so slightly.

When Henry brought up the limousine she stumbled in getting in. "I'm tired, dear," she said, as they settled back in their seats. "Let's not stay at the dance very long."

"Just one dance or two." Secretly he was glad that the visit was to be brief. Usually she wanted to stay too long, wearing him out.

An exhilarating breeze struck them as they sped along the river road toward the club, whose lights they now could see shimmering on the water like stars come down to drink. The full moon hung low over the ripples and made of what was by day a muddy unsightly stream a river of romance and loveliness.

"Oh, this is so good. Let's not go to the dance, but drive on and on," Laurel murmured, putting her arm through Noble's and snuggling closer.

He leaned over and spoke through the tube to Henry: "Just keep on the road—we aren't going to the club."

So on and on they went, and no word was spoken between them. Then Noble, gazing fixedly into the blackness, was startled by an exclamation from Laurel: "No, no, it's too late."

"Why, what's the matter, dear?" He had bent over and was grinning her by the arms. "What's the matter, dear?" Now he shook her. Her eyes opened. "What's the matter?" he persisted. "You called out, 'No, no, it's too late!'" Tensely he watched her.

"I must have been—dreaming," she said, wearily. Her head went slowly down to his shoulder. "Let's go home, dearest."

A half an hour later she slowly climbed the stairs on his arm, and went to her room alone. Falling down upon a chair, she let her wrap fall back and stared at herself in the mirror. Della entered and undressed her while Laurel sat there, half in a stupor that the maid mistook for drowsiness.

"You may go now, Della," Laurel said, when the maid had helped her into a sheer, clinging nightgown of crepe, trimmed in rare old lace. Mechanically she walked to her bed, then slumped down to her knees beside it and let her head fall down upon the covers. Then she slowly raised it again, her eyes closed.

"Oh, God forgive me—forgive me for—for dreaming."

No Theaters in Java.

In Java there are no theaters to speak of, and entertainment that calls for an auditorium usually is given in large concert calls, the performance opening at 9:30 or 10 o'clock because it is too warm prior to that hour to ask an audience to assemble. The concert halls are connected to clubs usually.

Prescriptions—

ALWAYS come FIRST!

We'd rather ten customers had to "wait a minute" than to HURRY making a delicately adjusted prescription. Nothing is more important to US than a carefully composed prescription from your Doctor. We want you to KNOW this!

Important Events!

Nothing promotes them more happily or cosily than the Rhuaio Laxative Tablets we sell here for 25c a package. For those who feel the need of such but who dislike the thought of depending on an outside agency for its success, we state that there are no uncomfortable "after effects."

Cracked Skin!

Next to a "steam burn" nothing is more disagreeable than "chapped skin." We have a scientifically composed Healing Balm, which we guarantee to give you IMMEDIATE and COMPLETE skin comfort. Cost 25c the bottle.

Did Exley Pull A "Boner?"

Syd Exley, window dresser at the Sixth St. store, worked several days putting a fireplace in the window and after he had it finished and stockings hung up some one said there is no sock hung up for Dad. Ex says that Dad is supposed to get the whole top of the mantle and we hope so for we have some mighty good cigars that Dad would appreciate and enough other things he would like to cover the top of the mantle.

Police and Fountain News!

There ust to be a drink called

It appeared everywhere 'bout this

Christmas Shopping, Dentists and Pain!

Each one of them you "put off" just as doggone long as you can. Everyone struggles against "painting the house," going to the dentist, and buying Christmas presents! Then at the LAST MINIT (in all three cases) there's a mad rush, hot arguments, busted appointments and 1000 beads of sweat! We all seem to thrive on it, tho, somehow or other, and it may be for the best after all.

My JUDGMENT tells me to "SHOP EARLY" but my old chum, I. N. ERTIA tell me: "Awh Shucks—got PLENTY of time — Do it tomorrow! So I diddle, daddle, doodle along just the same as I do EVERY CHRISTMAS.

Still I do think it's a smart trick to get the job over with—if you've got the courage — to shop NOW!

JOHN CARNAHAN.

Shorty Says:

Jack asked me if I believed it was good sense to get one's Christmas shopping done early and I says "Yes and NO." So Jack says, "How many turkeys can you eat for Christmas?" and I says: "I dunno, I'll tell you later." And Jack says: "Well, hurry up so I can get you aplenty." So I'm starting in training for Christmas. This is the third one I've et in 24 hours and I've still gotta couple wrinkles around my belt line. Let you know next week how I come out.

A Watch Makes a Nice Present Sometimes!

Get a standard make, however, for some of these watches that look flossy and glisteny are just a bundle of junk. We carry only the kind that tote reputations like Ingersoll.

Proud and Haughty!

And don't blame us a bit for we sure have outfitted ourselves completely this year with the widest, completest variety of Xmas candies we ever had. Principally Whitman's. You can't go wrong if you buy Whitman's. There may be better candies than Whitman's but if there is it will be admitted that the knowledge is not general.

Daintily Correct!

Our line of Stationery now in a variety of colors as well as white. Smooth papers and crinkly papers, all kinds of edges, regular size envelopes and the mannishly large ones and should be written with out of our Sheaffer or Parker Pens. Most anybody would be glad to get a box of stationery and a fountain pen for Christmas.

And Here's Another!

Being presented with a camera never YET made a person mistreat the donor. It's a year round utility and makes whole families happy. We have them at a variety of prices, both Kodaks and Brownies, made by Eastman.

A Burning Shame!

Be careful of the Seegars you give him. He can't be fooled by a trick name and a flossy wrapper. Better play safe and let us advise you a bit. Our line of Xmas boxes run from $1 to $7.50 for the smokes. Advice practically free.

METHUSELAH'S WIFE

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO MARRIED FOR MONEY

By EDGAR POE NORRIS

© CENTRAL COLOR ASS'N

TWENTY-ONE.

Laurel blanched, fearful that Marion might have heard her ultimatum to Wyman Holt.

Marion was fumbling at the lone button on her coat and furtively eyeing the visitor. She knew very well that Wyman was a former suitor of Laurel, and that there had been talk that Laurel broke an engagement to him to marry Noble Harwood.

"Is there a dance at the country club this evening?" Laurel asked with a certain nonchalance.

Marion answered: "Um-hum," still working with the button.

"Perhaps I can help you, Marion," Laurel suggested, going to her side.

"No, I have it now." Marion moved toward Wyman.

"I suppose you are going to the dance there," Laurel intimated.

Marion did not offer to reply. "Yes," said Wyman.

"Mr. Harwood is returning shortly, and we may follow you out there."

Marion shot a glance at her escort. From the corner of his eye he detected it, and turned his gaze from Laurel to her. "Perhaps we shall see you then," he said.

Laurel watched them go with relief, and slumped down into a chair to stare into the flames shooting up in the fireplace.

Marion was silent as she allowed Wyman Holt to assist her into his roadster. For just a second before he released her arm, they looked into each other's eyes. Then Wyman left her to go around the back of the car and get in on the other side. "Beautiful night, isn't it?" he said, a little thickly.

As the car gained momentum in rolling down the Harwood driveway, Marion spoke up without looking at her companion: "Let's not go to that old dance. I'd rather go to a movie. Ronald Colman is down at the Orpheum."

"That ham! The picture isn't any good. Let's go to the dance."

"Just for a little while."

"Wyman Holt, if you insist on going to that dance you can just take me back home!"

"Excuse me, Marion. I just thought you wanted to be persuaded, as usual."

"What do you mean?"

"Oh, nothing." He lifted one hand from the wheel to give one of hers a pat.

When Noble Harwood returned to his mansion two hours later he found Laurel nodding over a book in the library before the fireplace from which emanated a soft, ruddy glow that made her hair sparkle with gold. For a moment he stood in the doorway watching her, then he tiptoed to her side. "BOO!"

"Oh! . . . Oh, how you scared me!" She looked toward the great clock tick-tocking between the windows. "I didn't expect you to return so soon."

"I hurried away so we could go out. There's a dance at the country club."

"It's some private affair, isn't it? I don't remember receiving invitations."

Noble smiled lightly. "They didn't know WE would be in town or they would have sent some. We will never need invitations." He spoke in an arrogant, self confident manner, as if to say: "We'll make the affair a success."

Laurel got up reluctantly. "I don't know whether I want to go." She was thinking that Wyman Holt would be there—with Marion.

"Oh, come on! We won't stay long."

She still hesitated.

"Is it the book you don't want to leave? What is it?" he picked it up and regarded the title, "The Three Musketeers." "Oh, you like that? I do, too. But, come on, we can read it together some time."

Laurel played nervously with her fingers while waiting for Della to bring her wrap, and couldn't help being startled when Noble bent over her suddenly and kissed her lightly upon her neck.

"How sweet you are!" he said, taking her hands. He didn't notice that she shivered ever so slightly.

When Henry brought up the limousine she stumbled in getting in. "I'm tired, dear," she said, as they settled back in their seats. "Let's not stay at the dance very long."

"Just one dance or two." Secretly he was glad that the visit was to be brief. Usually she wanted to stay too long, wearing him out.

An exhilarating breeze struck them as they sped along the river road toward the club, whose lights they now could see shimmering on the water like stars come down to drink. The full moon hung low over the ripples and made of what was by day a muddy unsightly stream a river of romance and loveliness.

"Oh, this is so good. Let's not go to the dance, but drive on and on," Laurel murmured, putting her arm through Noble's and snuggling closer.

He leaned over and spoke through the tube to Henry: "Just keep on the road—we aren't going to the club."

So on and on they went, and no word was spoken between them. Then Noble, gazing fixedly into the blackness, was startled by an exclamation from Laurel: "No, no, it's too late."

"Why, what's the matter, dear?" He had bent over and was grinning her by the arms. "What's the matter, dear?" Now he shook her. Her eyes opened. "What's the matter?" he persisted. "You called out, 'No, no, it's too late!'" Tensely he watched her.

"I must have been—dreaming," she said, wearily. Her head went slowly down to his shoulder. "Let's go home, dearest."

A half an hour later she slowly climbed the stairs on his arm, and went to her room alone. Falling down upon a chair, she let her wrap fall back and stared at herself in the mirror. Della entered and undressed her, while Laurel sat there, half in a stupor that the maid mistook for drowsiness.

"You may go now, Della," Laurel said, when the maid had helped her into a sheer, clinging nightgown of crepe, trimmed in rare old lace. Mechanically she walked to her bed, then slumped down to her knees beside it and let her head fall down upon the covers. Then she slowly raised it again, her eyes closed.

"Oh, God forgive me—forgive me for—for dreaming."

No Theaters In Java.

In Java there are no theaters to speak of, and entertainment that calls for an auditorium usually is given in large concert calls, the performance opening at 9:30 or 10 o'clock because it is too warm prior to that hour to ask an audience to assemble. The concert halls are connected to clubs usually.

Phrase Has French Origin.

The pharse "a place in the sun" is of French origin. The French revolution in 1848 had been successful; Lamartine was head of the government for a brief period. Every revolutionary junta in Paris—Poles, Irish, and others—was besieging the new ruler for help and encouragement. To a delegation of aggressive Poles, the author of the "History of the Girondists" said: "Poland has not only been a reproach, she has been a living remorse standing in the midst of Europe. Yiddish Language Traced.

From the German word "judisch," the word "Yiddish" was derived as denoting a branch of the Jewish tongue. "Judisch" means of course "Jewish" and Yiddish is a dialect spoken by a large number of Jews. Roughly speaking Yiddish contains about seventy per cent German words, twenty per cent Hebrew and ten per cent slavic. Hebrew characters are used in writing Yiddish. It had its origin when the Jews migrated from Germany into Russia in the fifteenth century. Those Jews wrote and spoke German fluently. In each country they absorbed some of the characteristics of that country's language.

Strand Engages "Snooze" Kinneard's Orange Blossoms

There is a treat in store for the patrons of the Strand theatre when Jack "Snooze" Kinneard and his Orange Blossoms open a one week's engagement beginning with a matinee on Monday, December 14. "The Girl From Panama" will be the opening attraction, and is the show that made Jack Kinneard famous for his wonderful comedy character of "Snooze."

Assisting Kinneard is one of the best balanced and most popular cast of musical comedy players ever to play at the Strand. During the action of the play there will be several vaudeville specialties introduced—also a variety of popular numbers by the members of the cast—assisted by one of the peppiest choruses in musical comedy.

"The Girl From Panama" is a scream from start to finish. "Snooze" will sing, "I'm Lonely Since My Monkey Died."

In the company are such well-known musical comedy artists as Edythe Bates, Jane Oliver, Arthur Harrison, William Dyer, Charles Greiner, Ambrose Haley, Essie Dyer, Eddie Trout, and Tommy Seymour.

This attraction is advertised as "The Cleanest Show on Earth" and promises to live up to its reputation.

Yiddish Language Traced.

From the German word "judisch," the word "Yiddish" was derived as denoting a branch of the Jewish tongue. "Judisch" means of course "Jewish" and Yiddish is a dialect spoken by a large number of Jews. Roughly speaking Yiddish contains about seventy per cent German words, twenty per cent Hebrew and ten per cent slavic. Hebrew characters are used in writing Yiddish. It had its origin when the Jews migrated from Germany into Russia in the fifteenth century. Those Jews wrote and spoke German fluently. In each country they absorbed some of the characteristics of that country's language.

Thoxine, as this new discovery is called, works on an entirely new principle. Contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs. One swallow is all that's needed. Nothing better for children. Sheep Population Falls.

The sheep population of the United States is apparently falling. In 1903, it is stated, there were 63,960,000 head of sheep in the country, but in 1924 the number fell to a little less than 40,000,000. This is a decline of 39 per cent. It has been pointed out, however, that the figures for 1924 were gathered without taking into account the 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 lambs that could be expected, so that the situation may not be as bad as it looks at first blush.

Within the last fifteen years 400 electric power plants have been established in China.

Eggs Used as Currency in Remote Armenia Region

Erivan, Armenia.—Eggs are being used as currency in the Kara Kala district of Armenia, where the American Near East Relief is operating. Twelve eggs are accepted on their "face value" as equivalent to 1 ruble, or 50 cents in American currency. If any of the eggs prove bad, they may be returned as "illegal tender." The new form of "currency" is made necessary owing to the difficulty of getting the regular soviet money to Kara Kala, which is buried deep in the mountains of Armenia. A pair of American shoes in Kara Kala costs 200 eggs.

Paleolithic Skeletons Found in Siberia

Krasnoyarsk, Siberia.—Excavations on Afrantoy mountain near here have resulted in the discovery of several skeletons of paleolithic men and the remains of several hundred mammoths, wolves and bears. The skeletons are believed by Russian archeologists to be about 80,000 years old. Weapons and tools of hitherto unknown types also were found. Among these are curiously shaped cudgels made of tusks of the mammoth.

Sale of Land to Benefit Schools of Tennessee

Nashville, Tenn.—Tennessee public schools will benefit from the sale of "unclaimed and vacant lands when a defect is cured in an act passed by the state legislature in 1903 making it mandatory on the state to sell unclaimed lands.

Under the provisions of this old law, untilled properties must be sold for the benefit of the schools. But the law failed to designate any certain officer to conduct the sale.

There are many thousands of acres of such lands in the state, some tracts rich in mineral deposits, some with valuable stands of timber and others rich agriculturally.

She Could Never Have Done It With Piles!

Bless the American girl who has glorified all the sports! She makes a pretty picture in the water, and is a plucky swimmer, too. Piles are unthinkable for active women. If you have them, you ought to know this simple thing to do!

At any hour or moment that you have the least distress or discomfort from piles, use a simple Pyramid pile suppository—and go happily on your way! The worst hemorrhoids, even bleeding and badly protruding piles respond at once to the soothing suppository applied in perfect privacy. But bear the name in mind; Pyramid is the one every druggist has, usually the only one he will sell his patrons. Pyramid is marvelous. Why suffer another single half-hour with painful piles?

Sixty cents the box, the world around. But for proof, a free box plainly wrapped will be sent those who write Pyramid Drug Co., 200 Pyramid Bldg., Marshall, Mich.
